THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1921

PRICE THREE CENTS

Masterson

BAT MASTERSON is dead. Years ago, in the days of pony express riders and Wells Fargo stage-coaches, Bat was sheriff of Dodge City, Kas., toughest frontier town and the end of the old Santa Fe cattle trail winding up from the Panhandle.

Bat Masterson and Wild Bill Hickok were the fastest men with revolvers in the old-time west. They were kings in the days when sheriffs, cautioned by judges that it was illegal to shoot an outlaw before serving a warrant, occasionally rammed the warrant down a shotgun barrel so it would reach the victim ahead of the lead.

The west has changed. So have the old-timers. Masterson, when he died, was a New York editor. He found the pen mightier than the sword or the Colt's .45.

Beer

TWO quarts of wine and 10 quarts of real beer with a kick in it. That's what the new ruling in Washington permits a doctor to prescribe, at any one time and as frequently as necessary, for patients who need "medicine" in large quantities.

Thirty ones! Before you rejoice, bark to Wayne B. Wheeler, head lawyer for the drys. He says the ruling really applies only in California, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Rhode Island and certain sections of Louisiana and Maryland.

Everywhere else, state laws prohibit the use of medicinal beer, or hold it down to small quantities.

The wets have not won an important battle. Liquor is not coming back, legally. Even if national prohibition were knocked out, state laws would keep most of the country a desert. Don't forget that, as far back as early 1917, of the 2452 counties in the United States, 2330 were on the dry list, only 213 legally wet.

Smoke

BUSINESS is better, says the H. C. Frick Coal Co., branch of the U. S. Steel Corporation. It starts up 1250 coke ovens, knowing that it soon will have market for lots of coal.

When steel industry begins to pick up its ears, general business is ready to climb out of bed.

Farmers often pray for rain. City people should pray for smoke—the sure and only sign of industrial prosperity.

Fat

A SQUAD of fat women trains in New York to reduce weight. Dieting makes two of them fatter. No wonder! The "diet" includes, for dinner: Chicken broth, baked chicken, stewed tomatoes, two rusks, two slices bread, dish of fruit, half an orange, half an apple, dozen grapes, cup of tea or coffee.

It is that "diet," they must carry box cars for dinner pails when they have regular meals.

What fat women really need, to get thin, is something to make them worry. Chicago had a similar contest several years ago. Judges summed up results by saying that contestants were taller standing up than sitting down, and that the only one that got thin was the cook.

Chaplin

A LARMING rumor: Charley Chaplin may desert the movies to appear in drama on the legitimate stage. That would be real calamity. Movies give Chaplin's comedy tremendous circulation. Thousands enjoy him in filmland, to every one that could get into regular theaters where he might appear.

Chaplin is the only genius so far produced by the movies. A century hence all other modern movie actors will be forgotten but Chaplin films will still be running, in every generation.

Firemen

CLEVELAND man saw no reason for wanting to live 150 years. He slashed himself in the heart, which doctors sewed up. Blood transfusion might save him. An S. O. S. was sent out for those willing to help a total stranger.

Four firemen responded instantly. Why is it that firemen nearly always are the volunteers in blood transfusions? Do they lead in courage? Apparently so.

Medicine

PATENT medicine men, who were the first big advertisers, are coming back. Drug market is flooded with pills and powders and colored liquids with fancy names.

The head of an advertising agency attributes the new patent medicine to "a reaction from the war." It may be true that conditions are getting on the nation's nerves, making people crave "cures and remedies." But a label stating that contents are 99 per cent alcohol makes many a man feel in need of a tonic.

PROBE DECLARED ILLEGAL BURKHARDT'S BOARD MAY HIT SNAG

Mayor Burkhardt's special board to investigate. Chief of Police Roush may hit a legal snag, it appeared Friday.

Indications were that a demand would be made upon the city solicitor to enjoin payment of any money to anyone as a result of the probe.

Various attorneys of the city hold that the board is without power; that the law under which it is operating does not cover the points Burkhardt ordered it to investigate, being merely a fiscal statute; that any money paid will be a mis-application of city funds.

Burkhardt would say nothing concerning the matter, except that the affair was looked into before the body started to function. One member of the commission said he knew nothing of the threatened action on the part of taxpayers.

Mel Light, attorney for Chief Roush, declared he would not enjoin the commission at present, altho he holds that it is operating under a section of the laws which is not intended for such use.

Light said, "We will not bring an injunction at this time because we want the commission to go thru with its probe and bring out everything possible. I can't say what will be done in the future."

"We are of the opinion, however, that witnesses cannot be compelled to appear and testify before the commission when summoned. The section under which the mayor ordered the

WHO IS CALLING WITNESSES?

A MEMBER of the mayor's investigating board said Friday that the commission has subpoenaed no witnesses.

Mayor Burkhardt refused to discuss the matter. He would make no statement concerning the matter. He would not say whether they are being paid.

The member of the commission said he knew nothing of the matter of pay for those testifying.

Solicitor H. E. Garling said he did not know who is calling witnesses or whether they are being paid.

probe, we hold, is purely fiscal. It merely gives authority for an investigation of the chief's accounts, and since he has no accounts to probe, there is no legality to the commission.

"We maintain that any money spent in the investigation is illegal and will be a mis-application of funds."

Other lawyers interviewed were of the same opinion.

A large number of witnesses have been before the commission, it is understood. Secrecy under which the commission is operating prevents the number testifying from becoming public. Solicitor H. E. Garling said he was of the opinion that the investigation is legal. He declared he knew nothing of the operation of the board.

When the commission was named, L. E. Ludwig, chairman, declared he would accept no compensation. The other two members, T. R. Hamilton and F. C. Povenmire, declined at that time to say what their attitude would be on the matter of pay.

If a taxpayer demands an injunction by the city solicitor and he refuses to act, any attorney may act and if the case is won the city is liable for the lawyer's fee.

QUIZ WOMAN IN PRIEST'S DEATH

Her Story May Solve South Dakota Murder Mystery

ARREST IS EXPECTED TODAY

Slayer Now Known by Officials, They Say

LEAD, S. D. — (By Associated Press) — The mystery surrounding the murder early Wednesday morning of Father A. B. Belknap, pastor of St. Patrick's Cathedral, will be cleared up today, according to statements from officials following investigations which lasted until after midnight.

"We are satisfied we know who the man is and he will be taken into custody within a reasonable time," declared James Fowler, county attorney, following examination of fifteen witnesses last night.

WOMAN QUIZZED

Disappearance of Andrew Orlando from his room in the boarding house of Mrs. Rose Bertolero and discovery of a pistol and hammer in his room resulted in examination by officials last night of Mrs. Bertolero and several of her boarders. The hammer was said to resemble one taken from the automobile owned by Father Belknap, with which some one had tampered prior to the time the priest was summoned from his home in the early morning hours to administer last rites to a dying woman. Orlando, it is said, has not been at his work in the mines since Tuesday.

SPECTACULAR SCENE

Bloodhounds brought from Mitchell, S. D., supplied a spectacular scene last night as they led a posse through a snow storm from the scene of the murder in Poor Man's Gulch to the home of Tony Bartolino, the man who discovered the body of the priest Wednesday. Officials placed credence in the Italian's story that he was aroused by the shots which killed the priest and rushed out of doors, finding the body.

Interest centered today in the action to be taken at the coroner's inquest to be held late this afternoon. Most of the witnesses examined last night were expected to be summoned today.

HEARS FATAL SHOT

Husband Calls Wife on Phone, Fires, Killing Self

TOLEDO — (By Associated Press) — Michael J. Ryan, 45, seating himself at the telephone in his apartment last night and getting the connection called for, remarked: "Hello, sweetheart, this is Mike. Hold the phone a minute. I'm going to shoot myself."

In an instant a thunderous report reached Mrs. Ryan over the telephone and she dropped the instrument and swooned.

Hearing the shot, neighbors rushing into the apartment found him seated in a chair before the telephone, dead, the bullet having penetrated his right temple.

The Ryans had been estranged about five weeks.

LEGION MEN TO PLAN BONUS DRIVE ACTIVITY

Every member of the American Legion in Lima has been asked to attend a big rally meeting in the Legion rooms, Friday night. The purpose of the meeting is to complete the organization to a drive to state soldier bonus support in the November election.

Considerable spirit has been shown by the workers and several committees appointed recently to make a canvass of voters in Lima. The meeting Friday night is called to discuss new methods and new ideas in placing the matter properly before the voters. Colonel John Harrier, post commander, stated:

ROSE FOR DAD

The little girl is named Refugio. She is pinning a rose on her dad. He is President Oregon of Mexico.

VICTORY IS WON BY PERSHING

Beats Foch in Race to Port of New York

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — General Pershing today won another victory. Time was vanquished.

Racing into port on the liner George Washington, the leader of America's forces in the world war reached Quarantine about 11 o'clock in ample time to greet Marshall Foch when the allied generalissimo should follow him into the harbor on the steamship Paris, escorted by American destroyers and seaplanes.

As in the dark days of the war, General Pershing owed his latest victory to men below him in rank who had taken up arms just as gallantly in defense of their country. For it was due to the ex-service men in the fire room of the George Washington that General Pershing was able to get back in time from his trip to Europe where he had conferred the congressional medal of honor on the unknown soldiers of France and Great Britain. Responding to a wireless appeal from the American Legion, which is entertaining the marshal on his visit to this country and bringing him to its national convention at Kansas City next week, the fire room forces raised additional pounds of steam.

After receiving an official welcome at Quarantine, General Pershing took his place in the great ranks of Americans who had risen early today to pay their tribute to the little gray-haired man who had led 10,000,000 soldiers to victory in the greatest struggle of all time.

END OF RAIL WARS IS PLANNED

Congress May Make Repetition of Crisis Impossible

TO PUT TEETH IN ESCH LAW

Decisions of Labor Board Would be Mandatory

(BY HERBERT W. WALKER) WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — With a general rail strike averted after it threatened the country for two weeks, a general movement was started in congress today to make such a situation impossible in the future.

The chief means to this end will be put "teeth" in the Esch-Cummings railroad law, by making decisions of the railway labor board mandatory on both the carriers and the employees.

RATE CUT PLANNED

Meanwhile, more freight rate reductions are expected by the interstate commerce commission, as the result of the cancellation of the strike call. The administration had decided it would not be coerced into certain steps previously contemplated by the strike situation. Cuts in the rates on lumber and on fruits and vegetables from the Pacific coast have been virtually agreed upon.

Official Washington, altho it be heard the break would be averted, was greatly pleased with the decision to call off the strike and at the success of the railway labor board in influencing the union leaders.

UNIONS' SECRET CODE USED

CLEVELAND — Secret code messages to general chairmen by which they are instructed to notify local chairmen that the proposed railroad strike has been called off were sent out early today from the general offices here of the Brotherhoods of Trainmen, Engineers and Firemen.

"Art is long; life is short" read one of the messages.

Some of the others read: "Pretty heavy for such light work." "Where there are bees, there is honey."

"Smith is a mighty man."

"Your accounts have been audited and found correct."

"More enduring than bronze." The messages were dispatched here by Chief Clerk of President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; and W. S. Carter, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen to general chairmen of their respective organizations.

On the receipt of the messages the general chairmen will open sealed letters sent to them with the strike orders and if they correspond will relay to the local chairmen who in turn will notify the membership. Messrs. Lee, Stone and Carter are expected to return tomorrow morning from Chicago where today they are said to be drafting a circular letter to the membership giving their reasons for calling off the strike.

FOUND GUILTY

MERCER, Pa. — J. H. Moody, Burgess of Farrell, Pa., was found guilty of conspiracy to extort in a jury verdict read at the opening of court here today. Moody, together with C. L. McCauley, Pa., chief of police, will go on trial again next week on similar charges.

"IS UNKNOWN SOLDIER MY BOY?"

MRS. MARY FOWLER, WHOSE GRANDSON IS AMONG THE MISSING AND WHO'LL ATTEND ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES.

WASHINGTON — (By NEA Service) — Hundreds of mothers of America's "missing in action" will gather at Washington to attend the Armistice Day burial of the unknown soldier, who will be honored in honor of them all.

All of these mothers will wonder in her heart if the body thus being honored be the body of her boy. But also there will be many such mothers who cannot come to Washington.

Among these is the mother of Franklin K. Boswell. The shock of her son's fate unbalanced her mind. She is in a hospital.

In her place will come Mrs. Mary Fowler, the 67-year-old grandmother of Boswell. She will see Marshal Foch decorate the coffin, will hear President Harding pronounce a eulogy. And then she will go to tell the mother as much of the story as her disordered mind can grasp.

3 WOMEN DIE IN FACTORY FIRE

Blaze Starts from Explosion in Westerville Plant

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Two state departments today sent representatives to Westerville to investigate all phases of an explosion and fire in the Kilgore Manufacturing Company, a toy pistol and cap factory, there yesterday in which three women died as the result of burns and three were injured, one of whom, Rose Brown, is in a local hospital today in a serious condition.

State Fire Marshal H. A. Dykeman will determine whether there were any fire hazards in the building, and representatives of the state department of workshops and factories will probe the placing of exits.

The room in which the fire occurred contained only two doors, one of which was locked. It is asserted, and the other opened inward. The dead are: Lucy Lightner, 25; Mary Davis, 60, and Eva Whetnall, 19. The injured in addition to the Brown girl, are: Mrs. A. K. Smith, 35, and Elsie Goodbar.

UNIONS YIELD TO PEACE PLANS

Nation-Wide Walkout of Rail Workers Called Off

PROBE REPORT TO BE MADE

Federal Agency Will Announce Findings Today

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — The official recall of the rail strike orders issued by the switchmen, trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen were dispatched today, when leaders of the "big five" flashed code messages to their general chairmen. The chairmen will submit the messages to the locals and the official order recalling the strike will thus permeate the country in a few hours.

While these orders are being circulated, the United States railroad labor board, which played an important part in the final decision of the unions, will today announce its findings as a result of the public hearing Wednesday, at which union leaders and railroad executives testified. This declaration, it was expected, would analyze the situation and its outcome.

TURNING POINT

The vote ending the strike came into last night after all day sessions of the union leaders. Early in the day general chairmen of each of the five organizations conferred separately. In the afternoon a joint session was held which was addressed by Ben W. Hooper of the labor board. Mr. Hooper's appearance before the board is said by union leaders to have marked the turning point which led to the final decision.

Mr. Hooper is said to have stressed the board's announcement that no further wage cuts for any class of employees will be considered until working conditions for that class of employees have been settled. He is also said to have emphasized the announcement of the rail executives made at Wednesday's hearings that no changes in either wage or working conditions will be sought except through the labor board as provided by law. Union men said they construed Mr. Hooper's remarks as indicating that nearly a year must elapse before further wage cuts could be made effective, even if the road should apply for them at once and the board should eventually approve them.

Both points are said to have been highly instrumental in determining the final decision of the union men.

PLANS OF U. S.

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Complete plans to avert the most serious handicaps of the threatened railroad strike, which was called off last night, had been made by the government while the strike still appeared a certainty. District Attorney Clyne made known today.

Application for injunctions restraining the brotherhood chiefs from carrying out the strike with orders necessary to conduct these proceedings were in the hands of district attorneys throughout the country ready to be presented in federal courts. The applications were drafted by Attorney General Daugherty at conference with five district attorneys earlier in the week, and followed closely those drawn by Attorney General Richard Olney in 1894 for the injunction issued in July of that year restraining Eugene V. Debs and other officers of the American Railway Union from interfering with transportation of the United States mail. Mr. Clyne said.

BONUS VOTE WILL BE FORCED

Hitched to Tax Bill in the Senate by Reed

CORPORATIONS WOULD PAY

Offers Amendment to Assess Excess Profits

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The way was paved by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, to force a vote on the soldier bonus bill which the senate recently laid on the table at the request of President Harding.

Senator Reed introduced an amendment to the tax revision bill providing for taxes on excess profit of corporations and for use of the revenue derived as a special fund to pay bonuses to former service men. The amendment included the McCumber bonus bill, reported by the senate finance committee, providing for five-way benefits to former service men.

The excess profits rates proposed in the Reed amendment were 20 per cent on corporation income up to 20 per cent of their invested capital and 40 per cent on profits above. None of the bonus privileges would become operative under Senator Reed's amendment until January 1, 1923.

WALSH AMENDMENT

Arguing for his amendment for a graduated tax on corporations in excess of the 15 per cent levy recommended by the finance committee, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, said the fifteen per cent tax would result in the increasing by 50 per cent of the taxes of a very substantial number of corporations in the country.

The bill, the speaker said, would relieve surplus payers and the excess profit making corporations, but actually would add to the burden of many concerns.

"The increase," he continued, "increases the taxes not on the monopolistic class of concerns, not the big profit making corporations, but the small struggling business concerns."

UNJUST PROPOSAL

The increase on the "struggling corporations," Senator Walsh declared, was determined upon wholly in order to repeal the excess profits tax. The speaker said this was an unfair and unjust proposal and had been put forward in an effort to get back into the treasury some of the $450,000,000 of lost excess profits tax. Senator Walsh said it could not be successfully denied that the working out of the Republican corporation tax plan would increase the taxes paid by corporations earning less than eight per cent and decrease the taxes paid by corporations making more than 10 or 14 per cent depending upon the particular class of the corporation.

"And this," he declared, "at a time when business is prostrate; at a time when business is asking for relief; at a time when the Republican party is claiming to be anxious to restore business prosperity."

CRONLEY TO FIGHT RETURN HERE ON A NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

B. G. Cronley, indicted by the recent Allen-co grand jury, charged with non-support, was arrested in Indianapolis Thursday, according to a telegram received here Friday by Sheriff Baxter.

Cronley is fighting return to Lima. He informed Indiana authorities that he would not return without extradition papers. He has three minor children. Sheriff Baxter said Friday noon Governor Harry L. Davis will be appealed to in an effort to secure papers, which will insure return here of Cronley for trial.

GARAGEMAN'S LEG IS BROKEN BY AN AUTO

Clarence Allen, garage owner at the rear of his home, 720 S. Union-st., sustained a fracture of the right leg above the ankle, Friday afternoon, when he was run down by an automobile.

A car brought in for repairs was cranked up by Allen, who supposed the mechanism was in neutral position, but instead it was in gear and the auto leaped forward as the motor started. Allen was knocked down.

The injured man was removed to his residence.

Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, G. M. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $350 to $500 per month.

SCOTTY'S CARAVENERS' HAPPY IN THE WEST

"NO MORE CITY LIFE FOR US!"

Brooklynites Who Drive Auto Caravan to Idaho Happy

ROSEWORTH TRACT, Idaho. — (By NEA Service) — Giant trees are crashing down; frame houses are going up; camp fires are burning; songs rise from the tented village.

Thus is "Scotty's Caravan," which reached its destination recently after having motored to Idaho from Brooklyn, N. Y., "getting set" to live in a civilization made out of a wilderness.

The caravan originally consisted of 28 families. Four have deserted. The remaining 24 are building their own homes—three room cottages—and will soon turn to farming.

Just three months ago all of these families were living in steam-heated apartments in Brooklyn. Today the women in the caravan are logged out in khaki outfit clothes, preparing meals over open camp fires, and keeping house on a few boxes and trunks.

CALL OF THE WEST
The call of the west came when P. C. Meredith, who, with his brother, former secretary of agriculture E. T. Meredith, owns the Roseworth tract, offered good crop land for sale cheap.

William D. Scott, of Brooklyn, organized the caravan, and a long string of autos and auto trailers headed for Idaho.

Arrival at Roseworth brought some dissatisfaction. It was feared that the Salmon River Canyon, lying between Roseworth and the town of Buhl, would prevent profitable marketing of crops.

A committee of the settlers went to Boise and asked that a suspension bridge be built. Governor Davis has indicated this will be done as soon as the territory is sufficiently built up.

The former Brooklynites say they will never return to city life. "I want you to see my home," said J. I. Holder, one of the settlers. "I've built it almost by myself. Some boys from Buhl gave me a hand, but no carpenters were hired."

"Some of us were disappointed at first. Things were a bit harder than we expected. But that's worn off. I believe we have a wonderful opportunity to make a fine thing out of the project."

PARENTS ARE HAPPY
The rest agree with Holder. Families with children are especially enthusiastic about the open country. The nearest school house is six miles away, but the children are taken to and from it in a school auto bus.

Men folk are taking advantage of fine fishing and good pheasant shooting.

"Scotty," the caravan leader, is building himself a log cabin with a sod roof.

Church services at the Roseworth Tract are conducted in the open air by Rev Charles Baird, who drives in from Twin Falls every Sunday.

PETITION FOR PEACE BOND IS WITHDRAWN
William Fields, 915 Atlantic-ave, whose trial has been set in justice court for Friday afternoon, has been dismissed by Ernest M. Botkin. Charges instituted by neighbors that Fields was dangerous to the community and asking that he be placed under a peace bond, were withdrawn.

STEAMER IS SUNK

Vessel Goes Down Off California—No One Lost

SAN FRANCISCO — (By United Press) — The Japanese steamer Kukul Maru, was sunk at midnight in the Pacific, 350 miles west of Cape Flattery, Washington.

Passengers and crew were picked up by the steamer West Ivan. None was lost.

Details of the disaster were lacking, but dispatches indicated a sudden gale approaching the violence of a hurricane was responsible.

Both the West Ivan and the Kukul Maru were bound from Seattle to Japan.

YOUNG MAN STABBED THROWN IN NIAGARA RIVER

BUFFALO — Examination today by the medical examiner of the body of the young man found in the Niagara river last night indicated that he had been thrown into the water soon after receiving a stab wound in the side and that the immediate cause of death was drowning.

The wound could have been self-inflicted, the medical examiner believed. The condition of the body indicated that it had been in the water about a week.

TIN PLATE MILLS TO BE OPERATED FULL TIME

PITTSBURG — Officials of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company announced last night that the forty-four mills of the plant would be operated full time beginning next Sunday, and that there was assurance of continuous operation until January 1, 1923. For the past few months the plant has been operated only in part but with resumption in full approximately 3,000 men will be employed. Officials said that there was a sufficient number of skilled and unskilled labor on hand to resume immediately.

RAIN FORECAST IS TROTTED OUT

OLD SOL won the weather contest Friday, chasing gloom clouds away, despite a prediction of cloudy conditions. The forecaster has been good to humanity during the week, despite his firmly fixed idea that copious rains were expected to put a quiescence on late Indian Summer conditions.

October has established a fine record for equable temperature for the most part, but the average citizen, while hoping for the best in a weather way, expects the worst to happen as November nears.

The prognosticator should bear in mind that there is an intense desire to stage at least one more baseball game at Murphy's park, the coming Sunday and govern himself accordingly.

The outlook Friday is that there will not be a great change in temperature Friday night and Saturday, but cloudy conditions are forecasted for tonight and rain Saturday.

OFFICIALS IN CLASH ON BEER REGULATIONS

WASHINGTON — The internal revenue bureau and the prohibition enforcement department were at odds today over whether the real beer left over from the pre-prohibition days can be sold under the new medicinal beer regulations.

At the office of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, it was declared this beer can be sold.

Today prohibition enforcement officials declared the beer cannot be used.

Brewers must extract the alcohol from old beer and make new brews for medicinal use, the enforcement agents said. This will mean that much time must elapse before the new batches mature and dry before they by the time new beer is available, they will have formed the anti-beer bill thru congress.

HAYS INJURED IN RAIL CRASH

Postmaster General's Train in Collision in New Jersey

U. S. INSPECTOR ALSO HURT

Officials Returning to Washington from Robbery Probe

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Postmaster General Hays and a score of passengers on the midnight express of the Pennsylvania lines for Washington were badly shaken up early this morning when the express crashed, in a heavy fog, into the rear of a local train at the Manhattan transfer in New Jersey.

Pennsylvania officials declared there had been no serious injuries, although Mr. Hays expressed fear that Rush Simmons, chief inspector of the post office department, who had been here with Mr. Hays investigating the $1,500,000 mail robbery, had been more seriously hurt than this report indicated. He said he saw Mr. Simmons being treated at Manhattan transfer and that he appeared to be severely hurt.

Mr. Hays and a number of other passengers on the express were brought back to New York on an inbound train. A physician who examined the postmaster general said that aside from some strained muscles and a general shaking up he had suffered no harm.

Describing the crash, Mr. Hays said he was just dozing off in his berth when he felt a shock which hurled him to the floor. Several others in his car also were pitched from their berths, he added.

REVELERS DO NOT HEED CURFEW

Damage Reported by Halloween Roisterers

Despite the curfew, which ran from the towers of six fire stations in the city for the first time Thursday night, crowds of Halloween revelers kept the police busy answering calls from residential sections.

Considerable damage was done at several points in the city by bands of boys, bent on mischief.

Mrs. Harmon Daniels and her daughter, Mrs. Maud Trautner, reported to police that they were badly frightened when a plank hurled by hoodlums crashed thru a window. The two women were seated in the room at the time.

Another crowd of youths, armed with a sledge hammer, broke several boards on the porch of the home of John P. Jervis, 524 N. Jameson-st. A nurse said she was alone in the house with the children.

They were alarmed by the hammering and the maid was too frightened to go to the door.

Some days ago Chief Roush decided to ring the curfew at 8:30 each night until after Halloween. Thursday night was the first time the bells have been sounded.

How Fast Can You Tickle The Typewriter Keys?

Try to Beat These Marks Set by Keyboard Experts

(BY ALICE ROBE.)

NEW YORK.—"I neither smoke nor drink nor dissipate in any way. I am 22 years old and have been married since I was 19. The first time I won the two international championship was two months after I married. Yes, of course, a man works better if he has a home interest."

So says George L. Hossfeld, international professional typewriting champion.

"Concentration—that is my keynote. Frivolity doesn't get you anywhere whether your goal is to be typewriting champion or a winner in any other profession." So says Miss Marian Warner, amateur champion.

"Practice makes perfect. That's my motto. I practice all the time and I am working toward one goal. I'm going to be an international professional champion. I believe in being the best in whatever work you undertake."

So says 15-year-old Josephine Pittson, winner of the novice championship.

HIGHEST RECORD.
"In 1913 I made the highest record ever achieved," said Hossfeld, "that of 143 words per minute, for one hour. The reason my record of 136 words a minute is lower this year is because of the difference in the material. It was more difficult this year. But last year's record was beaten five words a minute. The conditions were the same, one hour's writing from unfamiliar copy, ten words deducted for each error. I did 8499 words in one hour this year with 26 errors, which, deducting 260 words in penalties, left a net of 126 words per minute. I also won the one-minute championship of 146 words without error."

HER GOAL.
"Girls who really succeed in this business are not the sort you see caricatured in comics, nor on the stage," said Miss Warner. "You have to be serious minded and have your thoughts on your advancement as well as your heart in your work, no matter what your ambition in life. I am 21 years old, born in New York and have been in this business for five years."

"My fingers—well, my middle finger is three and half inches long. Of course, my ambition is to win an international professional championship. My record was 127 words a minute after deducting for errors. The amateur class has a 30-minute contest. I did 4247 words with 45 errors."

Fifteen-year-old Josephine Pittson did 1538 words in 16 minutes—the latter being the length of contest for novices. Five errors made her net average 98 words a minute.

G. L. Hossfeld Typed To The Black Word In One Minute—Can You?

IT would take a good many pages to tell of some of the queer things which have come to pass solely thru use of the typewriter. The office boy only a few years ago got his job because of his ability to wield a pen, but now he gets that same job because he can pound the keys with accuracy and speed. The pen may be mightier than the sword, but the time is coming when both will be found only in the junk pile. Do you know that it is much easier to get hold of a letter written by Washington than it is one written by Taft? It is a fact and the same is true of almost any man of note who is now living. Few men of affairs write what are known as holograph letters, that is to say, letters which are WRITTEN and signed with the pen. The men who deal in autographs will tell you that you can buy something from the hand of Napoleon for much less than you would have to pay for a few lines written by Roosevelt, and that while you can buy a letter written by Jeff Davis for five dollars, it will cost you twenty to own one written by Wilson.

AMERICANS FACE TRADE CRISIS

Their Business Hard Hit by Falling German Mark

PLANTS MAY BE CLOSED

Also Confronted With Cut-Throat Competition

BERLIN.—(By Associated Press)—Some Americans in business in Germany say that the continued depreciation of German and Austrian money threatens to force American manufacturing plants and distributing houses in the two countries to close or operate at a heavy loss in the here that conditions shortly will improve.

A number of smaller German businesses, principally on importations of raw materials, also are facing a crisis and to avoid bankruptcy, which they see five or six months distant when the exhaustion of reserve funds and stocks has been completed, are seeking to consolidate with largely, more firmly established institutions.

PECCANT SITUATION
The American manufacturing concerns, dependent on German raw materials are faced with the peculiar situation of having huge outstanding orders in adjacent countries which they are unable to fill because the Germans insist on delivering raw materials at current prices, more than double the mark prices at which the material was contracted for, and which would make impossible the filling of outstanding orders at a profit.

Insistence by the foreign concerns on delivery at contracted prices has been without avail, protestations being either ignored or the foreigners being frankly told that such procedure would almost immediately bankrupt the German firms, in view of the recent depreciation of the mark.

LARGE CONTRACTS
American distributing houses also are embarrassed by the fact they have large contracts to fill at prices based on previous values of the falling mark.

"To make the situation worse, certain German interests have started a cut-throat competition to secure and hold the export trade. In manufactured articles, which has enormously increased within the last few months," the representative of an American branch manufacturing plant said. "This competition fails to take into consideration the fundamental proposition that funds must be set aside for depreciation but is based almost solely on the desire for immediate profits. The unavoidable consequence will be that within six months or so these firms will face the necessity of requiring or improving without money to pay, unless the capital stock is drawn upon. Such a condition cannot long continue, unless there is a substantial improvement in German money."

SHIRLEY MAE DEMPSTER

THE DOOR SLAMS ON HAPPINESS

Poor Blood Makes Bad Health—Then Come the "Blues"

Once the vigor of red blood becomes sapped of its strength, the door to happiness is literally slammed. Weariness of body follows and it unfailingly engenders depressed thoughts. To be reserved and cheerful becomes a habit. After a time there is an almost filmy dimness in the expression of the eyes and a pallor to the skin. Days seem dull and dark and difficult. A sense of insufferable gloom pervades the spirit.

Then it is that Gude's Pepto-Mangan is the great help. It is a red blood builder. It puts red into the blood—increases the number of corpuscles which make blood rich and red. When the blood is restored to its natural healthy state, the sensation of well being returns. Instead of shuffling along carelessly, there is the firm and springy step, the bright lustrous eyes, the clear complexion identified with the strength and vigor of good health. The drugist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form.

LIQUOR, PROPERTY DISAPPEARS

Evidence Seized in Raids on Bootleggers Soon Vanishes

FEW FINES ARE COLLECTED

Laxity of Officials Is Operating Against Prohibition

BY NEA SERVICE
Liquor worth millions of dollars has been seized by federal, state, county and city authorities. Property ranging from stills to an airplane has been confiscated in liquor cases.

What has become of it? Much of it has vanished. Whether the balance has been disposed of as the law prescribes, official reports do not show.

Federal and state courts are hopelessly clogged with liquor cases. Thousands of cases have been dismissed, or held up indefinitely because the evidence—the seized booze—has disappeared.

Investigation by NEA Service of the national prohibition enforcement situation reveals the mysterious disappearance of seized booze. Prohibition enforcement last year cost $6,250,000. The appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1922, is $7,400,000.

Seizures by federal agents last year included 413,987 gallons of distilled spirits, 428,203 gallons of wine, cider, etc., 1999 automobiles, 5 motorcycles, 18 horses, 20 mules, 36 boats, 11 wagons, 9 buggies, 14 sets of harness, 2 tracts of land—and one airplane.

Appraised value of this property exclusive of the liquor was $10,000,000. The liquor, at bootleg prices, would be worth at least $10,000,000 more.

Assessments and tax penalties for the year totaled $62,250,000 in liquor law violations—but only $2,152,387 has been collected.

LIQUOR IS SEIZED
In three months New York City alone seized more than 150,000 gallons of liquor, worth more than $2,000,000 at bootleg prices. Other cities and counties and states have seized immense quantities.

Under the law liquor, if chemically pure, must be sold for medicinal purposes—and bootleg must be destroyed.

Often all the confiscated booze has disappeared when a case reaches court. In a case before Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne in Detroit, 1240 bottles had been seized, but only a small bottle was brought into court as evidence.

When the judge demanded to see ALL the liquor seized, the arresting officer explained that he destroyed the 1240 bottles, with the exception of the sample, by taking it out in a 12-foot boat and dumping it in the Detroit river.

The judge pursuing the inquiry further, called in the weather forecaster and found that snow fell that day (in December) and a 40-mile gale was blowing.

"That would have swamped the boat," the judge said. "Besides, the bottles weighed at least a ton and a half—too much for the small boat described. The whole thing was an impossibility."

CASES ARE DISMISSED
One of 30 cases brought before Judge Jayne was dismissed at the prosecutor's request because of lack of evidence.

In New York the police made their first campaign against liquor violations when the state enforcement law went into effect last April and Governor Miller threatened to remove any mayor or police chief who didn't enforce the law.

Within three months 6274 arrests were made and seizures included 4367 barrels, 1488 cases and 72,050 bottles of liquor, and 80 stills and 84 automobiles.

Federal statistics at Washington show a total of 68,000 liquor law violations prosecuted since prohibition went into effect. Last year there were 28,066 cases in which there was assessment—fines or tax penalties—16,610 pleas of guilty, 17,962 convictions and 765 acquittals. And there are 10,855 cases pending.

CHINA WILL MAKE SEVEN DEMANDS

To be Presented at Arms Conference in Washington

INTEGRITY HER MAIN POINT

Simms Tells of Program Outlined at Peking

(BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS)
Written Expressly for NEA Service
WASHINGTON — The Chinese delegation will not come to the Pacific conference with portfolios
packed with excessive demands, Dr.
W. W. Yen, foreign minister, told me in an interview just before I left Peking.

China will not insist upon specifics but will endeavor to have laid down certain broad principles safeguarding her political and territorial integrity.

Shantung, Manchuria, Mongolia
and kindred topics will not be used by her as direct questions to be settled at the conference, but rather as illustrations proving what must inevitably happen if the old order
of things is perpetuated.

It is Dr. Yen's idea that if the Pacific powers can agree on the guiding principles he expects to submit to them, injustices like Shantung will rectify themselves.

The main points in China's case
at the conference will be:

1. Insistence on the open door.
America's policy with regard to the Far East since 1900.
2. The abolition of "special spheres" of influence claimed by different nations.
3. Control of her own resources, natural and artificial, including railways operating within her own borders.
4. Non-recognition of any treaty between foreign powers which infringes on her sovereignty.
5. Equal treatment before the law of Chinese citizens.
6. A scheme for the gradual abolition of extra territoriality.
7. A "Pacific Court of Arbitration" or kindred plan for settling such disputes as may arise between the powers interested in the Far East in the future.

Dr. Yen considers it a waste of time pounding away on a detail
when a question of principle is involved.

"Obviously," he told me, "if the policy of the open door, as propounded by the American Secretary of State John Hay, is really put into effect in China, there can be no
'special privileges' in Manchuria or anywhere else for any particular nation.

"If no nation is to have a 'special sphere of influence' on Chinese soil,
there is no need to argue the Shantung matter. Shantung automatically returns to China, unconditionally.

"It is agreed that China should have control of her resources and that no foreign government should be in a position to refuse China the use of a railway thru Chinese territory, questions like the South Manchurian railway, owned by Japan,
disappear.

"And so it goes.

"As to consular jurisdiction in China, we will not ask its immediate abolition. Nor will we endeavor to fix precisely the term of years it
is to continue in effect.

"Still China wishes to retain her sovereignty and so will suggest the eventual removal of extra territorial-ity—at some time in the future
when China shall have perfected her judicial system. I don't say 10 years, 15 years, 20 years—it all depends.

"Another thing I am preparing for presentation at the conference is a plan for a Pacific Court of Arbitration, to sit at Shanghai. This special court would handle only such disputes as might arise between Pacific powers and would not conflict in any way with the world court, but rather supplement it and lessen its labors.

It is Dr. Yen's idea that the Pacific conference should not just meet, come to some agreement, then adjourn sine die. Some kind of machinery, he thinks, should be devised, while the conference is still in session, to carry out, and perhaps
be, settle any disputes which might eventuate.

In a way the special court of arbitration suggested by the Chinese foreign minister would be a sort of continuation of the Pacific conference itself and would, he believes,
prove a great time-saver.

Supposing a dispute arose between China and Japan, he said, illustrating. First the two countries would attempt to reach an agreement thru their own diplomatic channels. If this failed, or if one side or the other so desired, the matter would be referred to the special court sitting at Shanghai.

It is not Dr. Yen's idea, however,
that the Shanghai court's decision should necessarily be final. Should a disputant so desire, he could carry his case to the international court.

ONLY GIRLS AND BABIES ADMITTED TO CHILDREN'S HOME, NOW OVERCROWDED

There is a crying need for more room at the Allen-ood Children's home, according to D. W. Higby,
superintendent of the institution.
Ninety-four children are now housed
at the home and more would be taken if accommodations were such they could be comfortably housed.

"Few boys are being admitted to the home at present," Higby said Friday. "All applications are for entrance of girls or young babies.
Few applications are for boys.

"Girls who have reached the age
of young women are sleeping together in a two-foot bed, because of our crowded quarters," Higby declared.

He said that industrial conditions had left little effect upon the institution. While at a time of industrial depression couples separates and their children reach the home, Higby asserted the number enrolled there is just about the same as at this time in other years.

However, crowded conditions
would make possible the receiving
of other children, even if they should desire entrance, according to the superintendent.

To be Presented at Arms Conference in Washington

INTEGRITY HER MAIN POINT

Simms Tells of Program Out-
lined at Peking

(BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS)
Written Exclusively for NEA Service
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Chinese delegation will not come to the Pacific conference with portfolios
packed with excessive demands, Dr.
W. W. Yen, foreign minister, told me in an interview just before I left Peking.

China will not insist upon spectacles but will endeavor to have laid down certain broad principles safeguarding her political and territorial integrity.

Shantung, Manchuria, Mongolia
and kindred topics will not be used
by her as direct questions to be settled at the conference, but rather
as illustrations proving what must inevitably happen if the old order
of things is perpetuated.

It is Dr. Yen's idea that if the Pacific powers can agree on the
guiding principles he expects to submit to them, injustices like
Shantung will rectify themselves.

The main points in China's case
at the conference will be:

1. Insistence on the open door.
2. The abolition of "special spheres" of influence claimed by different nations.
3. Control of her own resources, natural and artificial, including railways operating within her own borders.
4. Non-recognition of any treaty between foreign powers which infringes on her sovereignty.
5. Equal treatment before the law of Chinese citizens.
6. A scheme for the gradual abolition of extra-territoriality.
7. A "Pacific Court of Arbitration" or kindred plan for settling
such disputes as may arise between
the powers interested in the Far East in the future.

Dr. Yen considers it a waste of time pounding away on a detail
when a question of principle is involved.

"Obviously," he told me, "if the policy of the open door, as pro-
pounded by the American Secretary
of State John Hay, is really put into effect in China, there can be no
'special privileges' in Manchuria or anywhere else for any particular
nation."

"If no nation is to have a 'special
sphere of influence' on Chinese soil,
there is no need to argue the Shan-
tung matter. Shantung automatically returns to China unconditionally."

"It is agreed that China should have control of her resources and
that no foreign government should be in a position to refuse China the
use of a railway thru Chinese territory, questions like the South Manchurian Railway, owned by Japan,
disappear."

"And so it goes.
As to consular jurisdiction in China, we will not ask its immediate abolition. Nor will we endeavor to fix precisely the term of years it
is to continue in effect."

"Still China wishes to retain her sovereignty and so will suggest the eventual removal of extra-territoriality—at some time in the future
when China shall have perfected her judicial system. I don't say 10 years, 15 years, 20 years—it all
depends."

"Another thing I am preparing for presentation at the conference is a plan for a Pacific Court of Arbitration, to sit say at Shanghai.
This special court would handle only such disputes as might arise between Pacific powers and would not conflict in any way with the world
court, but rather supplement it and
lessen its labors."

It is Dr. Yen's idea that the Pacific conference should not just
meet, come to some agreement, then
adjourn sine die. Some kind of machinery, he thinks, should be devised, while the conference is still
in session, to carry out, and perhaps
be, settle any disputes which might eventuate.

In a way the special court of arbitration suggested by the Chinese foreign minister would be a sort of
continuation of the Pacific conference itself and would, he believes,
prove a great time-saver.

Supposing a dispute arose between China and Japan, he said, illustrating. First the two countries
would attempt to reach an agreement thru their own diplomatic channels. If this failed, or if one side or the other so desired, the
matter would be referred to the special court sitting at Shanghai.

It is not Dr. Yen's idea, however,
that the Shanghai court's decision
should necessarily be final. Should
a disputant so desire, he could carry his case to the international court.

ONLY GIRLS AND BABIES ADMITTED TO CHILDREN'S HOME, NOW OVERCROWDED

There is a crying need for more room at the Allon-oo Children's home, according to D. W. Higby,
superintendent of the institution.
Ninety-four children are now housed
at the home and more would be
taken if accommodations were such that they could be comfortably housed.

"Few boys are being admitted to
the home at present," Higby said Friday. "All applications are for
entrance of girls or young babies.
Few applications are for boys."

"Girls who have reached the age
of young women are sleeping together in a two-foot bed, because
of our crowded quarters," Higby declared.

He said that industrial condi-
institution. While at a time of industrial depression and people were starving and their children reach the home, Higby asserted the number enrolled there is just about the same as at this time in other years.
However, crowded conditions
would make possible the receiving
of other children, even if they should desire entrance, according
to the superintendent.

LADY BEATTY IS HOME BODY

American Wife of British Admiral Gives Views

(BY ALICE ROBE)

NEW YORK — "Of course, it is a wonderful homecoming for me. I am sure few American-born women can realize just how splendid it does seem to me after having been away 15 years, to return like this."

Lady Beatty, formerly Ethel Field, daughter of the late Marshall Field of Chicago, and wife of the first figure in the English navy, Earl Beatty, was the speaker.

"Naturally, it is a double pleasure for me to return to America with my husband, to whom Americans are giving so beautiful a welcome," she continued, in our 10-minute chat.

OLD-FASHIONED
"I will have to confess that I belong to those old-fashioned women who believe that woman's sphere is the home."

"While my interest in my husband's career has always inspired me to follow deeply and seriously all naval affairs, and while I was engaged in active war work for five years, I still feel that public evidences of activity are not gaining women anything."

"But please understand that when I say woman's place is in the home, I believe that it is woman's duty to make the home a place where the broader interests of life are reflected."

"Of course, women should understand politics, but that does not mean she needs to appear publicly. There is a broad educational phase in understanding the political forces at work in society."

"In that respect the English woman, generally speaking, has always reflected a keen knowledge. It is just a matter of natural interest with her to discuss politics in the home. A woman of intelligence and understanding often has a very great influence in a quiet way."

CONCERNING LADY ASTOR
Lady Beatty begged to be excused from expressing herself on Lady Astor's political career. But an American woman holding a seat in the British Parliament did elicit the quiet comment:

"It is a remarkable phenomenon, isn't it?"

Exquisitely groomed in modest tones, wearing a long fur coat enveloping her, and a small toque with large meshed veil, her arms filled with roses, Lady Beatty reflected most convincingly her views on quiet unobtrusiveness.

"I see no reason why being a quiet wife of a public man needs be interpreted as meaning that a woman can have no broad interests in life," she concluded. "That unfortunately is often the interpretation put upon such sentiments."

"Personally, tho, I prefer not to figure publicly, but I am very happy in my husband's career."

THROWN TO FLOOR OF CAR. B. & O. CONDUCTOR MAY DIE OF HIS INJURY

William H. Van Wormer, 45, of 315 W. Elm-st., conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, may die from injuries he suffered from a fall on the floor of his caboose, Thursday night.

Van Wormer is said to have symptoms of a fractured skull. An X-ray will be taken to determine the extent of his injuries. He was removed to Lima on a freight train and taken to St. Rita's hospital.

The train of which he was in charge left Lima, Thursday afternoon. When just out of Sidney, an air-brake hose connection was broken and the train was brought to a sudden stop. Van Wormer was thrown to the floor of the caboose with such force as to inflict the injuries. For a time he was unconscious, but upon arrival here, had regained consciousness.

MME. VENIZELOS BARES HEART

Greek Woman's Patriotism Led Her to Wed Ex-Premier

NEW YORK — When the cables announced the marriage of Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier of Greece, to the wealthy Madame Schlitzel, no small interest centered in the personality of the woman who chose the hour of the great diplomat's political downfall to become his wife.

Ten minutes' conversation with Madame Venizelos explained the deep interests which brought romance in to the later years of the "Creator of Greater Greece."

"I have always supported the Venizelos cause," she said. "For I am a Greek born in London—not a Belgian as reported—and my love for Greece has been symbolized by the efforts of my husband to restore Greece to its former place in the world."

"One thing to be regretted about most Greek women," she added, "is that they do not understand political or social problems. But when Greek women do take an interest—ah, how intelligent, how clear-thinking, how splendid they are!"

"What women do you think have evolved to the most advanced state?" "American and English," she replied.

"But of these two?" "I believe the American women. They have broader activities; a freer range of expression."

"The women of Greece and Italy

Madame Venizelos

have been too greatly dominated by oriental ideas. They have a far more difficult road toward self-expression than the Anglo-Saxons."

HOPES FOR GREECE
"I must not discuss politics, but it is futile to refuse to say I have no hopes for Greece. It is a land where the very spirit of democracy, bred in ancient ideals, still lives. Subject tion to alien yokes has marred but not eradicated this spirit.

"I am happy to come to America to study democracy in its great modern home and to study the women who are so free."

A smile, half sad, I thought, flitted over Madame Venizelos' face when, referring to the Leeds unions with the reigning family of Greece, I asked:

"What do you think of American money supporting the Greek royalist cause?" "Is it not remarkable—is it not a curious combination of events?" she exclaimed. "But—"

"But you believe that a change will soon come?" I asked.

"You have lived in Greece," she replied, "perhaps you can answer that!"

POLICE OFFICER EXPLAINS CASE

Dayton, O., Scene of Unusual Come-Back—Narrow Escape

Sergeant Leo A. Goetz, of 315 W. oming Street, Dayton, O., has been connected with the Dayton Police Force for a great many years and is one of the most popular and well known citizens of Dayton. In an interview recently, Sergeant Goetz explained how he executed a "come-back" and escaped from ill health by taking Peppen, the great reconstructive tonic.

"Since 1896 I've suffered more or less with my stomach," says Sergeant Goetz. "At that time I had a great deal of trouble with my stomach. Afterward I began having attacks of indigestion and finally even had to go on a diet. My nerves became affected and my liver also was of order."

"During the years that I have taken many medicines, I am sure I spent several hundred dollars for different preparations but nothing helped me."

"Recently I began to hear a great deal about Peppen. Well, I started taking Peppen and it did me a great deal of good. I can eat a hearty meal now without trouble from my stomach afterward. I have improved generally and, of course, am glad to recommend the medicine that relieved me."

Peppen brings increased appetite, better digestion, proper assimilation. It ends stomach misery. Those who take Peppen say they can eat anything without discomfort afterward. Peppen also tones up the liver and kidneys and soothes the nerves.

Peppen is a new system tonic which is now being specially introduced at Hunter's Drug Stores. It is also sold by other leading drug stores in Lima and nearby towns.

BUSINESS MEN IN OKLAHOMA HAPPY

Wearing Smile That Won't Come Off, Spillane Says.

FINDS EXCELLENT TRADE

Situation With the Banker Not So Encouraging

(BY RICHARD SPILLANE)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 28.—The country banker is gloomy. No wonder. He is hard up for ready cash. Cotton, oil and cattle have not brought enough profit for borrowers to liquidate loans and the country banker will have to lean heavily on the city banker this fall and winter and next spring.

On the other hand merchants and manufacturers hereabouts are cheerful. This is particularly true of the wholesale grocer. He wears a smile that won't come off. Business is excellent with him everywhere except in southeastern Oklahoma and southwestern Arkansas. His gross business is above that of last year both in money and tons. This is remarkable considering that Oklahoma has more wholesale grocers per capita than any other state in the Union, Oklahoma's ratio being 1 to 17,000 while the national average is 1 to 30,000.

Transportation rates is a live subject of discussion in Oklahoma. Outside of the two great packing establishments (and they are big ones) there is not a large industrial establishment in the state. "Large" is used generally. There are four oil refineries but only one or two are operating to any extent. The metal industries are small—some foundries, structural steel concerns, wood making plants and a good variety of other establishments. The big business of the city is in merchandise distribution and, to a fair degree, distribution of some heavy commodities.

When business men are making little money they are prone perhaps to be more capricious and complaining. That may explain the whole-souled manner in which they express their opinion regarding rates on lumber, coal, cotton, steel, general merchandise—everything.

Steel men say nothing will stimulate business more than a reasonable transportation rate on steel. Then they tell you how much it costs to lay steel down in Oklahoma and how much of the amount is absorbed in transportation.

Next the lumber men will tell you the construction industry in America is hamstrung by high railroad rates. The railroad, he will declare, gets more out of lumber than all the people who cut the trees, moved them to mill, manufactured them into sizes and put them on the cars for transportation.

Then the cotton man, the cotton seed man and all the others chime in.

One gentleman of Oklahoma City said every branch of business had to move on a hand to mouth basis by reason not only of the high railroad rates but the doubt about their maintenance. If freight rates were adjusted, he declared, he would place an order at once for 5,000 tons of steel for immediate delivery.

Hotel men report they are off 25 per cent in patronage. You wouldn't believe it if you had the difficulty some travelers experience in getting quarters. Traction men in Oklahoma say interurban traffic is off 4 to 5 per cent from last year. Higher fares, however, has made the net 10 to 15 per cent better. There is more population and less riding. This they ascribe to shortage of money among the masses. Amusement parks suffer particularly. They are off 25 per cent in patronage from last year.

Department store trade is excellent. Building and loan people say Oklahomans are wondrous. One secretary said his company had put out $700,000 in 3,048 loans and there were only 7 foreclosures aggregating $25,000. (Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Service)

Every time your child slides, the shoes get the same kind of wear as a grindstone gives the scissors.

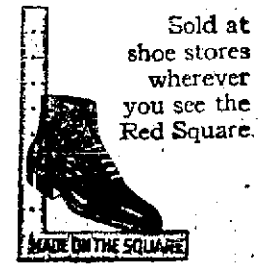

E-J Shoes Will Stand This Kind of Wear

Parents scarcely realize what terrific wear their boys and girls give their shoes. Constantly running, jumping, sliding and playing as every real boy and girl do is almost like pressing their shoes against a grindstone.

Endicott-Johnson have been making boys' and girls' shoes so long that they know exactly what they must stand. That's why they tan extra wear into the leather themselves by special processes. They lock-stitch the seams to prevent ripping and shape them carefully to make them comfortable and good-looking.

You can't keep your children from acting like red-blooded youngsters—but you can buy them E-J shoes, the kind that are built for rough play-wear.

Price $2.00 to $3.50 according to size.

Bones of Ancient Prisoners Brought up by Divers

BATTLE WITH THE SHARKS

Reinforced Steel Cage Built for Underwater Workers

HAVANA, Cuba — (By N. E. A. Service) — Probing the mysteries of the deep. Patrolling with man-eating sharks. Bringing up the bones of ancient Cuban political prisoners. That is what divers are doing off Morro Castle, on the entrance to Havana Bay, in their search for a bed of man-eating sharks.

During the Cuban insurrection Spaniards shot the throat of Cuban prisoners and sent the bodies down a concrete chute, in Morro Castle, to a bed of man-eating sharks.

At this same point, in the bay the Spanish gunboat "Sanchez Barcáez," was sunk.

Later it was learned that the ship's storeroom contained gold and silver. Attempts were made to locate the money but, after sharks had killed several divers, the search was given up.

Recently Armando Andre, captain of the Port of Havana ordered all sunken craft cleared out of the bay.

The Cuban Salvaging Company obtained permission to remove the remains of the "Sanchez Barcáez," with the understanding that if any treasure were located it would belong to the company.

Armed with sharp knives, two divers, risking their lives for high wages, were lowered 130 feet below the surface. Five sharks attacked one of them. He fought them off and both men were hurriedly pulled to the surface.

Divers thereafter refused to go down into the shark bed.

Then the salvaging company built a reinforced steel cage that was shark proof.

Since then the bones of many men have been discovered and much of the old war craft hauled to the surface.

This concern is now asking permission to use dynamite to aid in reaching the spot where the treasure is believed to lie. The Cuban United States cable must be moved before this is done.

Then divers will go down into the deep and blast for the treasure chest.

SOLO CRUSHED BY REPRIMAND

Congressman Blanton Censured
After Defeat of Ouster

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The censure of the house representatives, as publicly pronounced by Speaker Gillet in accordance with a unanimous vote of its members, came today upon Thomas L. Blanton, Democratic member from Texas.

Retaining his seat by a bare margin of eight votes under the necessary two-thirds when the house yesterday voted 263 to 113 on the resolution of Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader, proposing expulsion of the Texas member for insertion in the congressional record of a document described as "unspeakably vile," Representative Blanton, a few minutes later, heard his colleagues vote unanimously for a resolution proposing that he be publicly reprimanded at the bar of the house.

Blanton and four Democrats, voted "present" on the censure resolution offered by Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader. Giving every evidence of a crushed and broken man at the conclusion of the ordeal during which he had heard Representative Mondell bitterly attack him, plead for his expulsion from the house, and had then for more than an hour fought to defend himself from the charges, the Texas member brought the scene to a dramatic conclusion, when on leaving the chamber after the speaker's reprimand, he collapsed to the floor. He quickly recovered, however, after being picked up by colleagues, some of whom had voted for his expulsion, and later was observed hard at work in his office on a pile of correspondence.

CITY TO ATTACK GAS VALUATION

Council Appropriates $1,600 For Cost of Experts

Council in special session Thursday night voted to appropriate $1,600 for the purpose of retaining expert engineers to make thorough check of the property values of the Lima Natural Gas company, as set by the state public utilities commission some time ago, at $1,219,520.

Fuller & McClintock, New York engineers, were retained at that figure, after a stiff argument was staged as to the advisability of hiring engineers at a lump sum figure or by the day basis. A 10-minute recess was taken to allow the finance committee to come to an agreement.

The valuation of the Lima Natural Gas company as set by the utilities commission is far in excess of its proper rating according to the belief of city officials. The amount allowed by council for checking the valuations will be taken from the $2,500 appropriated recently to defray expenses of legal aid in making protest against the gas company's appeal for a rate higher than 55 cents as set forth in the city franchise.

Council voted to ask the Ohio Electric to place some sort of winter sheltering for passengers using their cars in public square, that women and children, especially, may be afforded protection from chilly blasts while waiting for cars. After lengthy debate as to the form of shelter to be requested the franchise committee.

Several ordinances were passed to provide for continuation of street paving and improvements.

DENTAL OFFICE IS FIRE DAMAGED

Overheated Vulcanizer at St.
Marys—School Head Resigns

ST. MARYS — (Special) — An overheated vulcanizer in the dental office of Dr. W. B. Horton, in the Home Bank building here, Wednesday night, caused a fire that entailed a damage of nearly $1,000.

No insurance was carried by Dr. Horton and it is feared that an X-ray machine is badly damaged.

J. E. Oplinger, under accusation of conduct unbecoming the head of the school, resigned his place as superintendent of the Rockford schools, at a special meeting of the school board.

At a meeting of the Northwestern Dental society, held in Wapakoneta, the next assembly was voted to limit Dr. J. W. Wright of this city, president. Twenty-four dentists were present from Lima and various other points. Dr. J. W. Diamond of Lima, presented an excellent paper.

Duck hunting on Lake St. Marys is reported poor, probably due to weather conditions. For the most part, only mudhens are being killed.

DONATION DAY BRINGS GIFTS OF VALUE FOR LIMA CITY HOSPITAL

The diet kitchen of the City hospital will be replenished for some months to come, as a result of Donation day for the hospital, held Thursday.

Cash, fruits, jellies, hams, fresh meat, bacon, crackers and staple groceries of all kinds made up the donations which began pouring in early in the morning and continued during the day.

Offerings were still arriving Friday. Mrs. O. J. Roush, chairman of the committee for observance of the day, says that donations will still be received and urged all who can to send in anything which they can spare.

One gift consisted of 36 pieces of linen, much appreciated by the hospital board. "Counted up in money value, donation day offering will run into the hundreds of dollars," Mrs. Roush said.

Donation day, annually observed, is in charge of the women's board of managers of the hospital. Mrs. J. E. Grosjean is chairman.

BANKERS REFUSE MANY LOANS

Many Have Learned Much in Recent Ordeal

LONG TIME NOTES SCARCE

Financial Men More Careful in Their Habits

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK.—(Special)—The upholder of the greatest national bank in America, the late James Stillman—not his amorous son—used to growl at many business men who came to try to obtain a loan from the bank. "It's not more debts you need, but more capital," a lecture usually followed, but not a loan.

I understand that bankers have decided to adopt this Stillman attitude towards many applicants for loans who formerly were accommodated. The 1920-1921 collapse drove home to many bankers the danger of making heavy loans to individuals or concerns that used the money as a sort of part of their fixed capital and counted definitely upon having such loans renewed.

As the war boom expanded and enormous profits were easily and rapidly reaped, millions and millions of bank loans were advanced, not for ordinary, reasonable, temporary commercial purposes, but really as working capital for embarking upon more or less speculative ventures. The losses thus incurred by banks have been enormous—altogether extraordinary success has been attended efforts to hush up the experiences of most of the banks thus caught.

The terms exacted by banks for advancing certain large organizations they could not afford to let go have been severe. In some instances stockholders of reorganized concerns have complained that their treatment at the hands of the bankers has been utterly heartless. The general complaint has been that the banks "saved" reorganizing enterprises for the sole purpose of saving their own funds, and that the saving was accomplished at the expense of others, including security-holders, both stockholders and bondholders. The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, the Cuba Cane Sugar company, and the Moline Plow company are among the illustrations cited.

The policy of advancing enormous sums to concerns that could not possibly liquidate them within three months or six months by the normal operation of their business was unsound. Many banks have suffered for their indiscretion in this respect, but a much larger number of business men and security holders have also been made to suffer severely and with less justice. However, corrective processes have been going on for many months, and this phase of the situation will gradually be cleared up.

Of course, some of the "reorganizations" may not prove weather-proof. As one correspondent expresses it—and this extract from his letter is given chiefly because it is characteristic of the tenor of many complaints:

"Many bankers instead of fostering manufacturing industries in financial stress, have taken advantage of the situation for their own profit and completed reorganizations along lines which must have known could only result in final failure, except under the most favorable conditions and would result in further reorganization later, with additional profit, while the investor suffers and also loses his confidence in investments and bankers."

It is to be hoped that there will be less pawn-broking by bankers and more genuine banking hereafter. It is not sound business for a bank to make loans which do not liquidate themselves naturally. No business concern should place itself so completely at the mercy of bankers as many did during the last few years.

Mr. Parish, for many years the conservative head of one of New York's Gibraltar-like trust companies, once told me that he refused a proffered $5,000,000 Standard Oil deposit. H. H. Rogers, Rockefeller's speculating partner, was dumfounded. It wasn't usual for Standard Oil's money to be refused. Mr. Parish explained his attitude briefly and bluntly to 26 Broadway. He didn't want Rogers or Standard Oil or anyone else to be in a position to demand that he or his company should be "gunned for."

Prudent manufacturers, merchants and others should take a leaf out of this long-headed banker's book, and avoid putting their necks into any bankers' noose. Circumstances can arise which compel bankers to pull in funds hurriedly and harshly. To avoid embarrassing experiences of this kind, business concerns should also be less dependent upon credit liable to be withdrawn at a critical moment.

The new policy, once it can be instituted all around, will be better alike for banks and borrowers. (Copyright, 1921.)

MOTHER! Your Child's Bowels Need "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cathartic for the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation.—Adv.

Nerv-Worth Gave the Long-Desired Relief from His Troubles.

"I can now go on duty feeling like a new man," said Clyde E. Vitte, of Morristown, W. Va., police. "One bottle of Nerv-Worth gave me good results in three trips to Hot Springs. I had been bothered with stomach trouble for about eight years. My road didn't digest properly and I was constantly bothered with gas forming on my stomach. I took treatment at Jacksonville, Fla., and at Hot Springs, but got only slight relief. I was forced to lay off on account of my condition. I couldn't sleep nights, my stomach pained me constantly and nothing that I ate would agree with me. I took several different preparations but got no relief, so finally I tried Nerv-Worth and the first bottle did me more good than the three trips to Hot Springs. My stomach no longer bothers me and I sleep like a log. I can and do recommend Nerv-Worth highly and hope that it helps others as it has helped me."

MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Yanks in Spanish Army Face Unenviable Fate

WASHINGTON—(By N. E. A. Service)—Two hundred and fifty Americans who have enlisted in the Spanish army and taken oaths of allegiance to the Spanish crown are now at Ceuta, a debarkation point on the coast of Morocco. They are awaiting transport to the zone where Spanish troops are waging a losing fight on Moroccan revolutionists.

These Americans are mostly veterans of the World War. Some of them were officers. They were picked up by Spanish recruiting agents in New York and New Orleans. Most of them joined the Spanish forces as a refuge from unemployment and starvation.

If the reverses and heavy casualties which thus far have marked the Spanish campaign in Morocco continue when the Americans get into action, their chances of returning to the United States alive will be very slender.

Spain has used the same methods in colonizing Morocco she used in settling South America—murder, rape and pillage. Her tenure of Morocco has been marked by a series of wars and rebellions, while French occupancy of adjacent sections of North Africa has been highly satisfactory both to natives and Europeans.

Lieutenant Colonel Victor P. Vidal, military attaché of the Spanish embassy here, officially verified in an interview reports that Spanish agents had recruited in America forces for the Moroccan campaign. "But we stopped a month ago," he said. "Up to that time we had accepted 35 men. Hundreds of applications still are pending. Many of the recruits were of Spanish or South American descent."

The State Department declares it will have nothing to do with Americans in the Spanish forces and that they need not apply to American consular or diplomatic agents for relief in case they get into trouble.

MARINE PERILED BY IGNORANCE

U. S. Shipping Board Unqualified to Protect Interests

BAD ACCOUNTING IS SHOWN

Subject Forced to Front by Arms Parley

(BY J. F. RICHARDSON)
Formerly Special Investigator for the Congressional Select Committee on Shipping Board Operation.

WASHINGTON — The opinion grows, as the date of the disarmament conference approaches, that one of the vital issues will be the status of the American merchant marine.

It is obvious that, with Great Britain, Japan and the United States competing for the world's sea trade, naval reductions cannot be discussed without relation to merchant marine programs.

The question being raised is: Who can handle America's interest adequately?

A review of the present situation and the past record of the Shipping Board is not encouraging.

BOARD IGNORANT

Chairman A. D. Lasker and the members of the present Shipping Board do not pretend to know deep sea shipping; they pretend to little more knowledge, in fact, than Hughes, Root, Underwood and Lodge.

Three successive shipping boards upon coming into power promptly junked experienced officials, employees, records, knowledge, all of which had cost the taxpayers billions.

Of nearly 1500 ships, costing three and a half billions, nearly all are laid up rusting on the mudflats. Lasker declared a large fleet of wooden ships costing nearly a million each, worthless, and said he would sink them. Then he sold them to a New York firm for $2100 each; then backed out on the sale; and now is faced by litigation.

BAD ACCOUNTING

Millions were lost by former boards, thru bad accounting. The situation today is so muddled no one can tell what the end will be.

Former boards lost other millions thru unwise contracts for sale of surplus materials. The present board is scaling down appraised values of $225,000,000 worth of supplies until at final sale they will not bring to exceed $20,000,000.

GIVES UP POWER

But against its record of accomplishment is the recent abdication of the board from all power in marine affairs, in delegating its functions to the Emergency Fleet Corporation, turning over to that private concern all funds, all assets, operation of all ships, collection of all revenues.

Lasker and his commissioners thus placed the purse of the taxpayers in the hands of officers and employees in no way controlled by federal statutes.

Meanwhile the board is losing $60,000,000 a year in dealing with a fleet of 1500 ships which are no more a merchant marine than 1500 idle boxcars on a siding are a railway transportation system.

PRINCES IN JAPAN ARE CLIMBING

Sign of World Business Revival, Experts Say

NEW YORK — (By NEA Service) — Prices in Japan, after falling steadily for 18 months, are now soaring again. The advance is at a rate of about five per cent a month.

Economists are wondering if this is an indication that world business conditions are definitely on the mend.

Japan was the first country to have a break in prices. That was in March, 1920. The Japanese price peak, when it toppled, was 121 per cent higher than in 1913.

Starting in Japan, price crashing spread around the world. It reached Italy, France and England in April, 1920. A month later, American prices began falling.

Economists have reasoned that Japan, first country to have business depression, reflected in falling prices, logically would be the first country where world business improvement would show up, in rising prices.

Wholesale prices in the United States now average about 52 per cent higher than in July, 1914. This is shown by the Department of Labor's latest statistics. It is four points higher than in June.

Consumer's cost of living is 64 per cent higher than in July, 1914, according to the National Industrial Conference Board. This is a rise of two points since June.

The majority of price experts believe that the upward tendency is only temporary, that the long-range trend of prices is downward. That has been the history of prices since 1793—up 20 years, then down 30 years, irregularly, like the teeth of a saw.

Prices are rising in France and Germany. They are falling in England.

300 YANKS IN JAIL

Freedom of Men Held in France is Demanded

PARIS. — (By NEA Service.) — Three hundred American ex-soldiers are in French prisons.

H. Cleveland Coxe, former American vice consul in Paris, son of the late Bishop Cleveland Coxe, and nephew of former President Cleveland, is carrying on agitation for their liberation.

On the other hand, an American army official, stationed in Paris, declares the boys have committed offenses against the law and are deserving of punishment.

Coxe argues that most of the boys are not hardened criminals and that they can be saved for society by prompt action now, while the army officer says many of them are of the tough element and drifted into the Paris underworld after the war.

Blacksmithing used to rank as high as the art of the scholar and poet in England and France.

Is your appetite uncertain—your digestion impaired?

Why the food we eat may fail to keep us fit

ONE single food element essential to health! We now know that many of our inefficiencies and failures are really due to lack of a health-maintaining element in food—the water-soluble vitamin. Scientists are agreed that without this one food factor we lose appetite and weight and fall off in health.

This is why thousands of men and women who are eating otherwise good and wholesome meals find their energy and vigor slipping. And this is also why many have little appetite and remain in a state of lowered vitality.

Today Fleischmann's Yeast is recommended as a corrective food for overcoming these difficulties, for Fleischmann's Yeast has been discovered to be a rich source of the essential vitamin we need throughout life.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a wholesome, fresh food, assimilated like any other food. Eat it at any time, 2 to 3 cakes a day. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor and the clean taste it leaves in your mouth.

Have it on the table at home and try it as a sandwich filler or spread on crackers. Have it at your office and eat it at your desk. It is good in milk, and many like it just plain. If troubled with gas dissolve it first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast and get it fresh daily.

Send 4c in stamps for the booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York, N. Y.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down condition, constipation, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamin preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamins, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

CHANCE FOR GIRLS DEMANDED

"Quit Handing 'Em Little End of Stick," Speaker Urges

MAY LEARN REAL POWER

Vocational Training Advocated
At Women's Meeting

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (By Associated Press) — Teaching of vonational subjects and domestic science in all rural schools was advocated by Mrs. J. A. McConnell, of Crockett, Texas, in addressing the regional convention of the League of Women Voters here today.

Members of the league from Texas,
Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Arkansas were in attendance at the meeting.

NEED NEW CONSTITUTION
In her address, "Living Condition of the Women on the Farm,"

Mrs. McConnell said that "we must quit handing the women and girls the little end of the stick so that they cannot strike back with any force, or they may learn their real power."

Texas needs a new constitution, the speaker said to admit more factors into the state. Women do not want to get into politics, she said, but "to get the men out of this political wilderness into which they have plunged."

"Our cotton crop is the second largest crop grown in America and is a hand made crop," Mrs. McConnell said. "It must be harvested by hand, row by row, and women and children for the greater part of it."

Because of the time spent in the fields, the women furnish hastily prepared meals, the speaker said, with the result that about 48 per cent of the children from the rural districts of Texas are suffering from malnutrition.

ILLITERACY IN SOUTH Illiteracy is not uncommon in the cotton states, she said, and the women and girls on the farms are poorly paid for the work they do because the cotton crop does not bring sufficient profit for the grower.

About 56 per cent of the farmers in Texas are tenants and the number is increasing every year, according to Mrs. McConnell. "The rural boy, she said, often is born in a tenant house, most of them just camping places with little furniture and no conveniences, and grows up to become a tenant because of the poor living conditions."

"It has been said that if the women and girls on the farms in Texas were to strike for just three months in the spring it would bankrupt the state and seriously cripple the whole business world," said Mrs. McConnell. "If our women and girls on the farms are so important we must quit handing them always the little end of the stick."

There were 75 postoffices in the United States in 1790.

OPEN LETTERS

To Voters

FRIENDS: You have had your attention called to the coming election in various ways, but there seems to be a feeling of general disinterest in the matter. I would again say that Lima will elect its first city commission at the polls November 8, just ten days hence.

I trust you are not overlooking the importance of this election. It means everything to the new system of government to take effect the first of the coming year. A good commission means good government and success for the plan; a poor one means the reverse. It is, then, up to the voters to determine the destiny of the city in the next few years to follow at the polls one week from next Tuesday.

I would suggest that you also give serious attention to the school levy. This levy is essential if our fine school system is to go on unhampered. If you want your children to have the best school facilities possible, you will certainly support this proposition.

LIMA BEANE.

To Babe Ruth

DEAR BABE: I am highly gratified to learn that you have given up your proposed "outlaw" activities in the world of baseball and that you will abide by the decision of the constituted authorities of the great national pastime.

You are a big drawing card in baseball. That is the reason you are valuable to your club. If you couldn't draw crowds when you play, you would be of little value to your employers, even if you could hit a homer every time you came to the plate.

The baseball fans like clean sport. They want to see players who are obeying the rules. Any break between yourself and the Big Boss of the game would not enhance your popularity.

There's nothing like getting an early start and Lima is going to be real glad to have your visiting clubmen come here.

To Boxing Promoters

BOYS: I am informed that you are to stage another boxing exhibition in my city in the near future. I trust you have not forgotten the bad taste left in the mouths of those who saw the last mix-up and that you will endeavor to put on a show that will be above reproach. The game will soon be killed here unless you do this.

American Theosophical Society

DEAR SIR: Your belief that the souls of men had their inception in the mineral kingdom, then slowly progressed into the vegetable kingdom, appearing in plants, then next in animals, and finally in men, is interesting. It causes me to wonder if some of us with continually sour expressions failed to be graduated from our lemon existences.

"Is your basement valuable? This is the basement age. War's rigors and amendments made us cave men again—and we might employ cave man stuff were the sanctity of the basement violated.

WAY I SEE IT

Way I see it, life ain't right, Things ain't runnin' perfect, quite;
Rich folks has it over poor,
World's chuck full of ills to cure;
Love's too weak and hate's too strong,
Good too often bows to Wrong,
Yet, tho' everywhere we go,
Life's bound up with grief and woe,
Grumblin' 't'nt the way to free it,
—Way I see it

Way I see it, I shud say Strivin' is the better way,
Strivin' hard, an' hopin' too,
That our dreams is comin' true;

Fightin' ev'it all the time,
Battlin' all life's muck an' grime,
Yet, thru' toil an' strain an' stress,
Keepin' cheerful, none the less;
We shud face the game—not flee it,
—Way I see it!

Way I see it, we can bear
All our load of work an' care
Butter if we recognize There's a lot in life to prize;
Things is bad, but they was worse
In this jumbled universe,
An' it's folks who keep their cheer
That improves it, year by year;
If that's platitudes, so be it,
But it's sense—the way I see it!

To City Conductor No. 1718
DEAR SIR: It was my wish yesterday morning that it could be possible for every employee of the city street car lines to be on your car and observe the way you handled your passengers during the rain.

Your care with the crowd of little boys and girls on their way to St. Rose school and your attention to the female passengers by assisting with their umbrellas as they left the car and otherwise making the best of a bad morning made a hit with me.

You will lose nothing in the way of esteem of patrons of the lines or in the way of appreciation from the company you serve by your kindly acts.

To Server McClain

DEAR MAC: I understand that because of a disagreement of some kind, you are hauling the city's high priced coal to street jobs in dribs rather than follow the system in vogue for years of having the coal dealer haul it as required at market prices.

This, I understand, is causing the coal used on the street jobs to be very expensive. Can't a cheaper way be found

To Armistice Day Committee

MY FRIENDS: The work you are doing in behalf of a proper observance of Armistice Day, November 11, is commendable in a high degree.

I have been pleased and surprised to note the wide range of features embodied in the program you have formulated. November 11 should surely be a great day in Lima and I am calling on all my citizens to participate in the patriotic event.

BEING A FATHER

(By DR. WM. A. BARTON)

Whatever else a man has to do who has a son, his real business is to make a man of that boy. If he neglects this high duty and inestimable privilege, no matter what his reason or excuse, he will surely live to rue the day.

Whatever else a father gives his son, he should not fail to give himself. He is himself a larger gift than any he can earn and convey to his boy.

Boys need mothers, and mothers can do some things with boys and for boys which fathers cannot do; but no man is justified in supposing on this account that he has any license to neglect his boy, or to turn him over wholly to his mother.

The wise father will not try to do his duty by the mere spending of money for the boy, or letting the boy spend money upon himself. He will give himself as well as his money.

He will share in his boy's fun and he will also remember that his boy has serious thoughts and earnest hours which also he would like to share with his father.

When his boy asks him hard questions, he will not look up from his paper in annoyance, and say, "I don't know. Don't ask so many foolish questions."

When his boy is facing the great moral issues of life, his father will not leave him to learn all the most sacred facts about life from those who besmeer them with foul suggestions. He will tell his boy what the boy needs to know.

He will remember that he cannot fool his boy by advising one course of conduct and practicing another. He will endeavor to be the kind of man he wants his boy to be when he grows up.

Perhaps if he does these things, he will some day overhear his boy say to some of his companions:

"When I get to be a man I want to be just such a man as my father is."

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

SCARLET FEVER

Scarlet fever, one of those cases which are most prevalent during the fall and winter months, is not so dangerous in itself as are the results.

Not in the fever, but the rash, scarlet fever does the danger lie, but in the complications which are very likely to follow in the wake of the disease.

The glandular swelling sometimes extends into the windpipe, cutting off the breath. Abscesses of the ear, resulting in deafness, are common. Kidney inflammation, Bright's disease, accompanies 25 per cent of the cases and after the fever the system is a fit subject for tuberculosis and pneumonia.

People of every age are susceptible to this disease, but 90 per cent of the deaths occur among children under 10 years of age.

The cause of scarlet fever is unknown. There is no preventive measure, like vaccination, with which to ward it off, and there is no special treatment that will combat effectively.

The first evidence of the approaching attack of scarlet fever is a nausea, accompanied by sore throat, headache, backache and high fever. The patient often becomes delirious. These symptoms, with the exception of the nausea, continue until the fourth day.

The rash which is responsible for the confusion of scarlet fever appears first in the mouth, at the throat. Soon it spreads to the neck and chest, then to the hands and feet, and by the third or fourth day it has covered the entire body. The rash, which is a congestion of blood vessels, is in the skin, not on the surface. It subsides after the seventh or eighth day and the peeling process begins, covering an additional period of 10 days. During this period, the patient should be kept in bed, and should extend over four or five weeks, depending on the seriousness of the attack.

Because of the danger of resulting complications the treatment of a patient during and after illness should not be too careful.

'CONFLICT' BREATH-PAUSING, HAIR-RAISING PLAY

"CONFLICT" contains the most thrilling sustained action of any photoplay yet screened.

There have been other photoplays containing flashes of daredevil action that for a moment cause the gooseflesh to creep, but none of them stop the breath and accelerate the pulse for a long period as does "Conflict."

The excitement is largely in a wild ride taken by Priscilla Dean on logs that rush down a creek bed after a dam has been blasted.

Richard Barthelmess took such a ride on ice cakes in "Way Down East," but the sight of a woman taking such a risk, or a greater one, is far more thrilling.

Here's Bill Hart In a New One

WILLIAM S. HART, who it seems, is mighty popular with the gentlemen, has taken upon himself a new role this trip. He holds him in "The Whistle" not a noble cowboy, as of yore, but a mill foreman, a happy laboring man with a small son, Danny, who hangs with him and has some small job in the department father superintends. It seems that all is not right at the mill. The shafting needs to be protected and the superintendent is delegated to speak to Chapple, the owner, about it. Chapple shakes his head. They haven't time to fix things, he says. The contracts are behind schedule. So the shafting—whatever shaftings are—go unprotected and finally catch little Danny in their mazes and cause his death. This makes the hitherto happy superintendent a hard, hard man, and when Chapple's small son falls in the river, he rescues him and takes

No other actress in the movie has eyes so bright as Priscilla Dean's. Anita Stewart and Mabel Julienne Scott are the only two who approach her in this respect.

One would expect that Priscilla would use those luminous orbs for pretty poses or vampish art. Not so in "Conflict." In that she employs her eyes to show hate, distrust and high resolve. She leaves the expression of the softer passions to the doll-faced ingenues who have only their doll faces with which to claim recognition in the cinematographic art.

In "Conflict" Priscilla compresses her lips into a straight line, lifts her head in a haughty carriage and seldom appeals to your sympathy by looking beautiful.

Priscilla Dean. She has the brightest eye in the movie. She employs it to good effect in "Conflict," a thrilling melodrama.

him away. The parents believe the boy is dead and are heart broken. The baby grows up and thinks the silent man he lives with is his uncle.

Fate, of course, rights all these things at the end of the picture. Parents and son are reunited and Mr. Hart, not happy, but at ease with his conscience, exits bravely. Imagine! No maid of love to love him, save or sacrifice for?

Mr. Hart should steer clear of the deadly croup. Only the younger screen players have any chance to run such chances, and even then they take their cinema life in their hands when they do. Besides this, so many close-ups are boring to any audience.

Outside of that, "The Whistle" is well acted and well set, and it boasts one real, good fight.

At the Faurot today and Saturday.

In Which George Fawcett Takes a Hand

SUCH A LITTLE QUEEN is the story which Elsie Ferguson made immortal on the speaking stage. As a screen vehicle for Constance Binney, it is a delightful presentational, unreal and charming as a Mother Goose tale. We imagine that some of the success of the picture is due the director who is none other than our friend, George Fawcett! George, evidently, cast that roguish eye of his at the pictures other directors were putting out and decided he could do as well as the rest of 'em. And we'll say that he can!

Of course, with Constance Binney, you will admit, he had something to work with. Put her where you will, she's always sure to come out bright and smiling. In the present case she takes the part of the little queen of a country of unpronounceable name, driven to our shores by many uprisings.

Once over here, accompanied by a faithful old baron, she finds herself in desperate circumstances. Her jewels she had hooked for passage and all she has left is the royal crown and a few royal gowns which she uses for house dresses, reserving her one plain dress for street wear. And where, O where, is the young King of Hepland, to whom she is betrothed?

Well, the King of Hepland turns up, and his adventures, coupled with those of the little queen, form the remainder of the intriguing lot.

Vincent Coleman is the young king. He's a handsome chap and his work improves with each successive picture. Others in the cast are competent players, and the picture is nicely set and costumed.

"Such a Little Queen" is the feature offering at the Sigma theatre.

Marjorie Daw In An Interesting Satire

HERE'S a friendly, swift-actioned, snappy captioned comedy that sounds a warning to you butterfly girls. Know what a butterfly girl is, don't you? She's the girl who thinks the world is her playground and men her playthings. She knows nothing of the sad side of life and goes blithely on her way with great innocence. Such a girl is Edith Folsom, heroine in "The Butterfly Girl."

Edith Evans was a society girl, to whom the admiration of men was the breath of life. Some girls you know are satisfied with but one man, Edith had to have a whole regiment at her feet, or she wasn't enjoying herself. When she came into her money, she happily shook the dust of the small town off her high heels and went to the big city in happy anticipation of making an impression on the biggest portion of the masculine population.

There's no use in telling you the whole story. You know how what kind of a girl she is. Of course.

the author, John Gorman, has permitted his heroine to go thru the required number of indiscreet and otherwise adventures and finally shows her as a regenerated woman who discovers that she had been silly and empty-headed, etc., whereupon her butterfly wings disappear.

Marjorie Daw is the girl. She has charm, personality and talent and has proven that she is mistress of comedy roles as well as of the more emotional. You surely remember her work in "Bob Hampton of Placer."

Because it is built on satirical lines, I hardly think "The Butterfly Girl" will bore you. A certain percentage of you will think it's a pert little offering. And I nearly forgot, King Baggot is in it! NOW do you think you'll like it?

"The Butterfly Girl" is appearing at the Lyric theatre, in addition to a new Harold Lloyd comedy "Bashful."

Seats Going Rapidly for "The Four Horsemen"

THE wonderful picturization of Vicente Blasco Ibanez's "The Four Horsemen," of the Apocalypse, Metro's million-dollar production which has been the sensation of the last six months and more in all the large cities of the country, will be shown at the Sigma theatre for seven days beginning next Sunday afternoon at 2:15.

Mr. Ritzler made a special trip to Cleveland to see the presentation of the picture in that city, and returned chock full of enthusiasm and with a contract with the Metro company for the local showing.

"It is by all odds the greatest feature picture I have ever seen," says Mr. Ritzler "with its dramatic, well developed story, beautiful photography and human characterizations."

The splendor and awfulness of war, and tenderness and passion of love, the beauty of domestic relations, and the gaiety of the dance halls are the contrasting threats of life picturized, with the four horsemen Conquest, War, Pestilence and Death hovering over all.

The cast is an exceptionally strong one and all the characters are played by actors familiar to the speaking stage, or by those who experience in films peculiarly fits them for their work in the picture.

Those who have read Ibanez's book, express astonishment at the vivid way in which the author's story has been preserved. This is not only true of the "continuity" of the plot, but also in the presentation of the characters as drawn by the famous Spanish novelist.

"The Four Horsemen" is not only a study in character and in human motives, but also a great argument against useless wars. And with this it is a pictorial plea for patriotism as opposed to selfishness and individuality. An augmented orchestra conducted by Hewitt Thomas, and Miss Faith Black, vocalist, are added features. Two performances daily. Matinee at 2:15—night at 8:15.

Danny Lund and His Triangle Girls

THE second offering of the Danny Lund Musical Comedy organization is billed as "Who's Brown?" a hilarious presentation with Danny Lund himself as the chief dispenser of fun.

There are some snappy songs and several feature stunts in between the plot that come up to expectations. There's plenty of diversified novelty and an entire change of scenery and costumes.

The Danny Lund Musical Comedy Co. will round out the week at the Lyric theatre, with a special matinee on Saturday for the kiddies.

Majestic to Feature Tallest Man

Both man and horse will appear on the stage of the theatre in person at each performance, as well as in special pictures.

This is in addition to regular program.

The first number was "Fantasia and Allegro movement of Sonata No. 18," by Mozart. Mrs. Charles Preston with the second piano as arranged by Greg played by Mrs. Edward A. Sifferd. The rare old world flavor of Mozart's music was most restful and good to hear, being played so well by two of the splendid pianists of the club. "Minor and Major," by Charles Gilbert Spross and "Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta Voix" by Saint-Saens were two difficult numbers sung understandingly by Mrs. Forster Robinson, who was accompanied by Miss Leona Felz. Scene from "The World and His Wife," by Charles W. Nirdlinger was a rather complicated scene with six personages represented but was very artistically given by Mrs. Winona Vinson Forster. "Visi D'Arte, d'Amor" (by Tosca) by B. de Curties were two very popular numbers delightfully sung by Mrs. E. J. Curties with cello obligato by Dr. E. J. Curties and piano by Miss Anna Cantwell. Both of these young women have of late received favorable criticism in music circles of Chicago and are welcomed back to Lima music lovers most cordially.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

By WINONA WILCOX

DIVORCE AND DUTY

Marriage makes men and women responsible if it does not make them loyal.

Love has been so over-emphasized as the source of all human happiness that those about to marry often forget the other clauses of the marriage contract. Promising allegiance in love they overlook the element of personal responsibility for the other's welfare, in case love fails.

Thus it becomes possible for a young husband to write: "After two years of marriage, I find that I am disappointed in my wife. I do not love her any more. I love another girl. How shall I introduce the subject of divorce to the wife?"

Doubtless the writer expects a reply to accord with the ultra-modern doctrine that divorce is right when love is dead.

But let him ask himself how often his love is liable to die?

He loved the first girl when he married her. Now he loves another. He was sincere then. He is sincere now. What is going to keep him from being just as sincere about a third girl a year or two hence?

An excerpt from a divorcee's letter makes an excellent reply to the above:

"As an ex-wife earning her living in the business world, my sense of humor is keeping me from marrying again."

I am called handsome, therefore I have not escaped my share of romances. Some married friends think any girl will believe their ravings.

"If they were original, we might. But they tell all of the girls the same thing: 'My wife is a lemon! She doesn't understand me! I'm disappointed in her! That's her justification for making love to us.'"

"Bunk — I call it, for as a divorced woman I have seen all sides heard all, lived all. I know how a good little wife can be misled."

"Looking backward, it seems to me that in few divorces do both parties wish to be separated. That is the tragedy of divorce — a new infatuation for one, bitter disappointment for the other."

"It seems to me that people who love do not need to be tied together. Marriage is useful when they begin to pull apart. Perhaps it was created to compel men and women to face the responsibilities of mating."

"I believe that husbands and wives seldom get excited about divorce until one of them wishes to remarry. And so divorce really causes separation less than marriage."

"Monogamy doesn't worry people much. The wish for successive polygamy upsets it."

"Before my divorce, I couldn't see any sense in getting along with a husband whose interest was centered on a gay girl."

"I should have perceived what the event proved: He never was vitally interested in her."

"The man I married had stolen my youth and freshness. I should have kept him in the responsibility he assumed when he wedded me."

"Life is not a matter of interest, nor is it a permanent factor in many marriages, but duty between two who mate is as unescapable as gravity."

Mrs. F. H. Feutz, of E. North-st., was tendered a pleasant surprise, Wednesday evening when a number of friends arranged a masquerade party in her honor. Five hundred was enjoyed throughout the evening. Mrs. H. W. Shurtliff holding high scores. At a late hour a delicious lunch was served.

THE POPULAR CAPE

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK. — The cape, most useful and convenient of all women's wraps, is with us again and is more popular than ever.

The newest Franklin Simon capes from Paris range from the voluminous effects which are adaptable to the attenuated Rossetti type of woman, to the straight-lined models.

But one thing is most essential for every woman to remember — she must drape the cape about her figure to be really artistic and effective. There is nothing worse than a long cape that "just hangs."

A handsome model is of blue mervella with an original cut permitting deep bands of fur above the arm-pits to resemble cuffs.

Another model shows the material gathered on a small yoke.

Still another, illustrated here, has handsome embroidery of gray on the blue mervella, and a high astrakhan collar.

A black cape, also of mervella, shows inset over the arm, over which the encircling material is laced, the tips of the lacings are of squirrel as is the collar.

Capes are shown in all sorts of materials and all combinations of furs and colors.

MOULD
If washing soda is not thoroughly dissolved before the clothes are put in the water, they are liable to have spots of iron mould on them when the washing is finished.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED
You will handle drinking receptacles by touching only the bottom or the handle. The hand should never be across the top.

You will, if a guest arrives at your dinner party very late, serve the guest, or instruct your maid to serve him, with the foregoing courses but will not hinder the progress of the other diners.

You will, if you are host for a dinner party at which there is no woman guest of honor, take to dinner that woman among the guests who is less acquainted with your home and the other diners.

SUSIE SMART SAYS

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl of 17 and am in a very difficult and embarrassing position. I am a member of a church and I am too young to marry. I am now. My parents object and say I am too young. They want me to wait a year or so, but he says no. I never. I care for him so deeply that I don't think I can give him up. I am sure my parents would have nothing to say against my wishes. What do you think I should do?

SUSIE SMART ALICE
Now or NEVER! Certainly you have a beautiful and lordly man to deal with. Don't listen to his foolishness. He cares for you, he will be only willing to wait a year or so for you. Be sensible and abide by your parents' wishes.

Of course, if the man utterly refuses to wait for you, you may assume that he does not care for you and should be very grateful that you learned the truth before it was too late.

You are young and will get over the disappointment in time. You are much too young to marry without the sanction of your parents.

Dear Miss Smart: Is this story in the U. S. when a girl can be married at 15?

A girl of 16 can be married in almost any state in the U. S. with the consent of her parents, except in Colorado, Idaho, New York and Vermont.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) I am a girl 21 years old and engaged to a boy for four years. I am away at college and made him promise before he went that I wouldn't go with other boys or girls. Do you think that is alright? Do you think he will be angry if I go with other boys or girls? (2) Will grey suede outfits be worn this winter?

BROWN EYES
(1) Perhaps he will and perhaps he won't. If you love your fiancé as you should, you would trust him. (2) I must confess that it is quite impossible for me to say that it is good. You should practice writing frequently, as your handwriting suggests that of a girl of 14 or 15 rather than that of a young woman of 21. (3) Grey is very good at present and will most probably continue to be worn this winter.

Herman Geiser, a student at Miami University arrived in this city Friday to spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Geiser of N. West-st.

A Halloween masquerade festival will be given at St. Paul's Lutheran church, corner of Elizabeth and North-sts., Friday at 2:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

What Is The Answer?

"NO WOMAN KNOWS"

The story is that of a typical American family, owning a small store and living in a provincial mid-western town. Sacrificing everything for a gifted son so that his musical talents may be developed, the middle class atmosphere of petty economies and frugal living is presented by the little family and their friends in an amazingly realistic manner, the details of which provide the picture with the humorous touch of homey truth useful for lightening the emotional and dramatic climaxes that follow each other in quick succession.

"Fanny Herself," the girl of the story, is portrayed by Mabel Julianne Scott, who thereby achieves a new and high place in the photodramatic art. Miss Scott's portrayal of "Fanny" can in no wise be compared with any previous presentations of portrayals of characters on the screen. She has achieved the distinction of standing entirely alone as "Fanny" and of having transcended the barrier of screen silence by the potent power of pantomime and emotional feeling. Coming Sunday at the Lyric theatre.

THE FLYING HOOF

By WILLIAM JOHNSON

"No," said Jane firmly, "there's no use talking any more about it. Suzanne and I are leaving for Italy tomorrow. I have named the one condition that might make us reconsider and you have refused to accept it."

She did not doubt that she was reading the sentiments of Suzanne as well as herself. In their partnership she had been the dominating mind, invariably carrying her point in such minor disputes as they had.

"Won't you believe me," pleaded Roddy Dean, "when I say that I would only too gladly meet you and could if I could? I'd like to tell you everything—you and Miss Trask—but I can't—I mustn't. I'm pledged not to. I have taken an oath."

"You aren't an officer of the law, are you?" asked Suzanne.

For an hour the three of them sat at the office arguing, and Jane and Dean doing most of the talking, while Suzanne sat listening in silence, trying vainly to piece together the fragments of the mystery.

Jane had scornfully tried to puzzle out the commission offered by Mr. Chiswick was a plan to get them both out of the way, but Suzanne realized with what might be called a flash of insight that the forces of evil Roddy Dean, might have some other purpose.

From her own shocking experience she was convinced that Kenton and Epstein were engaged in some sort of vast criminal conspiracy and would stop at nothing to achieve their ends. To her it did not seem at all implausible that Carlton Chiswick might also be concerned.

But would it not be better if she went to Italy as Jane planned?

Dared she go on, remaining in the city and continuing to work with Roddy Dean? What if her heart advised her to do that?

What if she was afraid for herself, as she was afraid for Roddy Dean? The trip to Italy loomed up invitingly as a haven of refuge. If she remained in New York there was no telling what fate might befall her.

It was she who had shot Epstein. Would she be arrested? That was a most terrifying thought. Her recollections of just what had happened in the gambling house were vague.

As she had pressed the trigger she remembered that Epstein had turned quickly toward her. He must have seen and recognized her. One of the men with Dean—she thought it must have been the chauffeur—had sprung forward and struck the gambler, and he had gone crashing to the floor. She remembered, too, seeing Roddy Dean, his eyes alight, springing toward her, and she recalled vividly the delightful sensation of safety that came to her as his strong arms went about her and he rushed with her down thru the basement and out into the waiting taxi. There must have been a brief interval, she thought, during which she had fainted away, for the next thing she remembered was Dean still holding her in his arms, calling her by name and trying to revive her. She had had just strength enough to grasp onto the address of her office, and when she had come to again it was to find herself stretched out on the rear of the lounge.

Now, as they talked, Dean had told her that Epstein had been only slightly wounded and that there was no reason for her to fear. He had seemed more confident at any time before, but she kept wondering whether or not Epstein had seen her. If he had recognized her, if he knew that it was her hand that had fired at him, the experiences she already had had with him told her only too well that he would venturously seek her down and make her suffer for it.

Could Dean protect her as he promised? Eagerly she waited for the answer to her question.

"No, of course not," said Dean, almost indignantly. "I'm not a law officer, a detective, or anything like that."

"Then don't you realize," said Suzanne with falling hopes, "that it's preposterous, perfectly preposterous, of you to expect us to take your uncorroborated word that this commission from Carlton Chiswick is anything but what it appears to me, an unexpected tribute to our reputation as successful decorators?"

"I tell you it's a plot," persisted Dean, "a hastily contrived plot of the enemy to get you both out of the way. You know too much. You're too dangerous to their plans."

"Poppycock!" cried Jane. "You have a superheated imagination. This is New York, nineteen-twenty, a safe, civilized, modern city. All this talk of plots is nonsense."

"I suppose it was imagination when they searched your offices and tied you up. I suppose it was my imagination when they kidnapped Suzanne right at the door of her home."

"Anyhow," snapped Jane, "it was all your fault. If we never had seen that old envelope of yours nothing would have happened to us. You got us into this thing. The trip to Italy will get us out of it, and we're going to take it."

"If you'd only trust me—just for a day or two longer," pleaded Dean, miserably.

"That's a nice thing for you to say," countered the indignant Jane. "Why don't you explain everything to us? Surely we've both been thru enough for you to deserve it."

"You certainly have," cried Dean warmly, "and I do trust you—trust you both."

"Funny way you have of showing it," snapped Jane, still unmollified. "You trust me, don't you, Suzanne?"

As he spoke he turned appealingly to the junior partner, unconsciously addressing her by her first name. His eye caught hers and held it. For a moment she faced him silently, almost as if under a spell.

"Yes," she said hesitatingly. "I trust you." Adding impulsively: "I would trust you to the end of the earth."

"Do you mean that?" he cried, joyfully, a great light coming into his eyes.

"Yes," she answered, wholly unconscious of Jane's disapproving glare. "I mean it."

"You trust me even though I can't explain anything? You're willing to take me on faith?"

"Yes," she breathed once more. "Then," his voice rang out strong in confidence, "you won't go to Italy, even if Miss Kent does."

Suzanne looked from one to the other of them. Jane was her partner, her staunch friend, tested by long months of close companionship, loyal, sensible, never-failing.

Roddy Dean she had known less than a day. Her acquaintance with him already had brought her into dangerous straits. She feared, too, that Dean, in his enthusiasm was rash, impetuous, foolhardy. There was mystery about him that he would not or could not explain. Casting her lot with him would be almost sure to involve her in still greater perils.

Yet as a moment ago they had stood there, the great of each reaching into the other's soul, the knowledge had overwhelmed her that come what might she was Roddy Dean's. Without a word of love from him she knew beyond all doubt that he was her man and she was his woman. Danger threatened him. He needed her. Whatever came he would find her standing by his side.

"No, I shall not go," she answered.

"Suzanne!" cried Jane disappointedly.

"Suzanne!" cried Dean delightedly as he sprang forward and crushed her hands in his, his eyes looking once more into hers, with an admiring gaze that brought the red to her cheeks.

"That's settled, then," he said, at last releasing her. "I knew that you'd stand by me. I must be off. There's such a lot to be done. There isn't a moment to spare."

He dashed impulsively out of the door and was gone, leaving the two partners facing each other across a chasm that they both sensed would never be bridged again.

"That young man has bewitched you," muttered Jane half to herself. "Come into the rear office with me while I change," said Suzanne, suddenly conscious of her disheveled appearance and of last night's dinner gown.

"How long have you known this Dean?" asked Jane as Suzanne slipped off her gown and did up her hair, before putting on the street gown she had told Jane to bring down.

"Forever," was the word that sprang to Suzanne's lips, but she did not say it. It did not seem possible that their acquaintance could be numbered only in hours for years and years.

"Oh, I've known Roddy for years and years," Suzanne answered, trying to speak in a careless manner that did not in the least deceive Jane. "I used to keep his picture in my mirror at school."

"Funny I never heard you speak of him before," commented Jane helplessly. She had taken it for granted that he was a new and chance acquaintance, and had looked upon the bond so manifest between them as a sudden infatuation easily to be disposed of. "What did he mean by your being kidnapped?"

"Oh, I forgot," cried Suzanne. "You haven't heard yet about my exciting night—only the last part of it."

Quickly she recounted all that had befallen her from the time she had met her escort at the Ritz, explaining about seeing Dean there, and going home alone in a taxi.

"So you see," she concluded, "Judge Kenton must have been having me shadowed—probably has been having both of us shadowed, ever since that envelope he was so anxious to get was dropped out of the window."

"If we're being shadowed," said Jane, "it's all the more reason for our going to Italy and getting out of this mess."

"If you think I'm going to desert Roddy Dean now," flashed Suzanne spiritedly, "you're mistaken. I know he faces grave danger; they'll get his life if they can. I'm going to stand by him. I'll stand by him thru everything."

You can make the most Delicious Mayonnaise

THE best relish to a good meal is a tasty salad dressing. Yet with a few simple directions, even a young girl can make delicious salad dressing—with Mazola.

Many people who know the best salad oil prefer Mazola to even the imported Italian olive oil.

Mazola mixes better with other salad ingredients, and makes a smoother dressing than other salad oils. And it keeps for weeks without becoming rancid.

TEN MINUTE MAYONNAISE

- 1 cup Mazola.
- 1 egg yolk.
- 1-2 teaspoon sugar.
- 1-2 teaspoon salt.
- 1-3 paprika.
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar.

Add well mixed seasonings to egg yolk, with one teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar, beat well, adding one teaspoonful Mazola at a time until mixture thickens, after which the Mazola may be added more rapidly. Thin with lemon juice or vinegar when necessary. The white of the egg may be beaten and folded in last.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING

- 1 cup mayonnaise.
- 2 hard cooked eggs.
- 2 tablespoons of finely chopped pimento or green pepper.
- 1 tablespoon finely minced onions.
- 2 tablespoons Chiff sauce.
- 2 tablespoons tomato catsup.

Recall Election Being Held Today in South Dakota

SEEK GOVERNOR'S REMOVAL

Proposed Laws Also Submitted to the Voters

FARGO, N. D. — (By Associated Press) — The first recall election in the United States is being held today in North Dakota with the Independent Voters' Association faction seeking to have its candidate, out of three officials who were elected last fall with endorsement of the Non-Partisan League.

Governor Lynn J. Frazier, William Lemke, attorney general and J. M. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture to replace with R. A. Nestos, of Minot for governor, W. S. Sevelbjorn Johnson, Grand Forks, for attorney general and Joseph A. Kitchin, of the Independent Voters' Association for commissioner.

LAWS SUBMITTED
"We will swing the election to the league by a majority in excess of that last November when Governor Frazier was re-elected," said Frank Ostman, state publicity director for the league.

A group of proposed laws also are being submitted to the voters today as initiated measures, one of which would in the future do away with party designations in the election of all state officials.

Another would change the membership of the industrial commission, which supervises state owned industries.

tries, so that the control of the commission would pass out of the hands of the Non-Partisans.

The governor, attorney general and Commissioner of agriculture and labor now constitute the commission.

Other measures would:
Provide means to liquidate the Bank of North Dakota, a state institution.

Revise the debt list of the state.
Provide for a rural credits act patterned after the South Dakota law.

Petitions demanding the recall of three state officials were signed by some 40,000 voters.

DIVINE HEALING IS DISCUSSED

Missionaries in Convention Here Detail Manifestations

ALLIANCE CHURCH SESSIONS

More Than 200 Visitors are Being Entertained

Divine healing, as it is manifested in the mission fields, will be the subject for discussion at the convention of Christian and Missionary Alliances churches, Saturday night, in the local church, A. Elizabeth-st. Missionaries of whom there are half a dozen present, will tell of their experiences in this connection. The session Friday afternoon, was devoted to a talk by Rev. James A. Diehl on the work in western China. Rev. Mr. Diehl has been located in China for the past eight years. Rev. H. M. Schuman, district superintendent, Cleveland, will speak on "The Truth Regarding the Church."

Miss Mildred Patten, who for the past 17 years has served as a missionary in India, will give the lecture, Friday evening. Miss Patten will appear in native costume during her talk. She will give firsthand information from the India mission field. Rev. James A. Moore will also be one of the speakers. SATURDAY PROGRAM At the session Saturday afternoon, Miss Patten will conclude her talk. Rev. Mr. Schuman will deliver an address. More than 100 are attending the sessions. The convention is one being held in the district, which embraces six states, including Ohio. Missionaries are traveling about, holding these conventions, having already been on the road one month. They will conduct conventions as long as good weather continues. No morning sessions are held. Afternoon sessions convene at 2:30 and evening meetings are at 7:30. The convention will close Sunday night. The Rev. I. H. Patterson is the pastor of the Lima church. Delegates are being entertained in the homes of members.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL AT "Y. W." TONIGHT Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. members will hold a joint Halloween social at the "Y. M." building Friday night, Louis Bradshaw, secretary, announced. Games will feature the evening. A "chamber of mystery" will be an added attraction. A fortune teller's booth promises to be popular. Community singing, directed by Miss Mikewell, is one of the events of an interesting musical program. George Wyor, Mansfield, district manager of the Metropolitan Insurance company, will be the principal speaker at a "Y" meeting scheduled for 8 p. m., Sunday.

MORTON RETURNS

Jim Back as Merchant Body Secretary, November 1

James E. Morton will go back on duty as secretary of the Lima Merchants' association on November first. C. S. Burns, who as assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has been directing the affairs of the retailers in addition to his other duties, will be relieved of retail trade activities and will devote his entire time to the work of the parent organization. Morton left the Merchants' association the last day of last year and has been in the automobile field since that time, first with the Lima Motor Car company and later with the Dodge Brothers company.

"Jim's return to retail organization activities will be welcomed by the merchants of the city with much pleasure, because for four years he successfully handled the mercantile association's work and his knowledge of men and affairs of the city in general is an asset that means much to the organization," President Paul Crawford, said Friday.

MRS. R. R. DAWES DEAD MARIETTA — Mrs. R. R. Dawes, aged 79, mother of Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, and Seaman G. Dawes of Columbus, died at her home here today following a brief illness.

SHORE WILL FILED The will of Franklin P. Shobe, late of Amanda-up, who died a week ago, has been filed for probate. Hearing will be on November 4.

APATHY PREVAILS IN CAMPAIGN

Only 11 Days Until Battle of Ballots Will Open

LITTLE ACTIVITY IS NOTED

Election Official Predicts Very Light Vote

Eleven days until election day and the enthusiasm apparent, as to who will be the five city commissioners selected that the polls November 8, is noticeable by its absence.

The "Committee of 200" is the only organization which is doing anything to boost candidates, and they are not getting much of a start.

A quiet canvass is said to be under way by labor candidates who are in the race. The Lima Trades and Labor Council will center its efforts on putting Edwin Plunk and August Wilker on the commission. They are the two candidates who survived of the five who entered the primary with the backing of the Trades and Labor Council.

The committee of 200 has revised its slate. J. J. Rankin has been substituted for August L. Wilker, who was endorsed before the primary August 9.

Wilker was last among the ten candidates who qualified for the big derby.

Harley, Breckenridge, Cunningham, Cressley and Rankin form the combination which seems to be most likely to hear whenever the coming election is spoken of.

SOLDIERS BACK HARLEY
Harley will have the backing of the former service men of the city, who feel they are entitled to representation on the new commission.

A. J. Morris, clerk of the election board, predicts a light vote if the public doesn't wake up.

Interest in the township offices is a little more lively, due to the fact that the candidates and their friends are beginning to do a little campaigning.

William H. Gustin, for Justice of the Peace on the Republican ticket, is opposed by Neil Poling, Democrat.

Both are busy passing cards to the voters.

The candidates for school board are resting on their oars.

THIEVES STEAL TIRES, THROW 'EM INTO RIVER

Automobile thieves who stole two spare tires from a car belonging to A. E. Weber, 312 W. North-st., Tuesday night and threw them off North-st bridge into the river. They were discovered by residents of the neighborhood Friday and reported to police.

ARGUE MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN CASES OF DONOVAN, WILLIS

Motion for a new trial for George Donovan and Joe Willis, convicted of the robbery of Samuel and Jacob Pett, near Elfton, last May, was argued in common pleas court Friday afternoon.

Legal counsel for Donovan and Willis presented affidavits to show newly-discovered evidence, charging the crime to others.

Prosecuting Attorney E. T. Lipincott rested his arguments on the evidence already produced in the Pett robbery case and will endeavor to have the sentence imposed on Donovan and Willis carried out.

It is probable, that at the close of the arguments, Judge Becker will take the matter under advisement, for decision at later date.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY AT HARRY B. STUCK HOME

Housebreakers entered the home of Harry B. Stuck, 317 W. High-st. Thursday during the absence of occupants and stole $110 in money, belonging to William Kurtzman, a roomer.

Entrance was gained by means of the front door, which had been left unlocked. The intruders also went into other rooms in the house, including that of Herbert Comstock, but took nothing of value.

Kurtzman informed the police of the robbery and said his money was in a belt in a chiffonier. It had been broken open with tools.

The robbery was discovered when

Step Taken to Prevent Unionization in Mingo

INDIANAPOLIS. — (By United Press.)—The United Mine Workers of America, one of the largest individual labor organizations of the world, went on trial for its existence today.

Federal Judge A. B. Anderson began hearing on a suit for injunction filed by 63 West Virginia mining corporations, seeking to dissolve the union by restraining the collection of dues by check off "for any purpose whatsoever" from its half million members.

Attorneys for the miners were expected to file several motions against the suit, among which was one for dismissal.

The Borderland Coal Company and 62 other companies of West Virginia charge the "check off" system by which the union dues are taken from the miners' wages, is illegal.

UNIONIZATION FOUGHT
Officials of the miners union said the injunction is granted, it will break down the administrative forces of the union and the association of operators in the central competitive field, comprising Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Western Pennsylvania.

Several Indiana operators are named as defendants in the suit against the "check off" system.

The West Virginia firms filed the suit as a step to prevent unionization of the Mingo mine war area—the last stronghold of the open shop in the American coal industry. The labor troubles in the Mingo region are told in the bill and are said to have resulted from a conspiracy of the miners and operators of the central competitive field to organize the disputed territory.

She will recover, however, a physician said, after making a hurried call and using the stomach pump. Recently her theatre district tea room was closed.

HONORS SAVAGE QUEEN

Texas Oil Operator's Journey to Cannibal's Grave

FORT WORTH, Tex. (By N. E. A. Service.)—W. J. Cassidy, Fort Worth oil operator, is going to Australia to place a monument over the grave of a cannibal queen.

Also he will take with him a dozen head of cattle to make a feast for the members of the girl's tribe. Behind this, unusual journey lies an almost unbelievable story that Cassidy revealed only after long urging.

Since the age of 15 he has been roaming the wilds of the world prospecting for gold and for oil. "When I was 19," says Cassidy, three companions and myself were prospecting for gold in the cannibal country in northern Australia. I was captured by a band of them and carried into the hills, where for five days they tried to fatten me up for roasting.

"On the night before I was scheduled to furnish breakfast for the band, a girl about my own age, whom I had noticed watching me intently for several days during the dances of the tribe, crept under cover of the darkness and cut the things that bound me to a tree.

"Like the other women of the tribe, she was repulsive. She had a bone thru her nose and copper pieces thru her ears. She, like the others, had no forehead, the hair beginning almost at the eyes.

"She was a princess of the tribe, soon to become its queen. Without speaking a word, she seized my hand and led me noiselessly away thru the brush. We had not gone far before my absence was discovered, and the whole pack of tribesmen started after us yelling like demons.

GIRL LEADS WAY
"The girl began to run, dragging me after her, and in some miraculous way we escaped. For 10 days the cannibal girl guided me thru the wilderness until we reached a British mining settlement 150 miles away.

"When we reached the British the girl was in a quandary. She wanted me to run away with her again, but I had enough of cannibals.

"I took her to Cooktown in North Queensland and left her. If I had remained, I would have had to marry her out of gratitude, and I

INDIAN'S WEALTH BRINGS BATTLE

Two Oklahoma Counties Involved in the Affair

HOME REMOVAL IS ISSUE

White Wife Tires of Shack, Wants New Residence

MUSKOGEE, Okla. — (By NEA Service.)—Jackson Barnett is the richest Indian in the United States. That is why a fight, which has thrown the courts of two counties and federal officials into a turmoil, is being staged.

At present the chief lives, almost out in the open, in Okmulgee-co. He has no use for the white man's fads and fancies, but much prefers the great outdoors.

His home is a four-room shack—and he's satisfied with it.

All this in spite of the fact that millions upon millions of dollars literally rolled into him when great oil gushers were discovered on his land some years ago. No one seems to know just what he is worth; he owns a million dollars worth of Liberty Bonds alone.

It is an Indian's theory that a man's wealth should be disposed of before he dies—after his relatives are properly cared for.

That's where the big fight comes in.

Barnett with the approval of officials, has already given $1,000,000 to Bacone University, a Northern Baptist school at Muskogee, and a quarter of a million for an institute for sick Indians.

Following these gifts, it was announced that Barnett and his family were removed from Okmulgee-co to the town of Muskogee, in Muskogee-co. He was to have $75,000 residence to take the place of his backwoods shack.

And Okmulgee-co let out a howl. County Judge Hugh Murphy, of Okmulgee, says he will not consent to the removal of Barnett's estate.

While the fight hangs, as yet undecided, Barnett's guardian has petitioned the county court in Okmulgee-co for permission to use $150,000 in building Barnett a home in Okmulgee-co and purchasing adjoining land to establish a pony ranch.

FIGHTING SOUTH HI ELEVEN ANTICIPATES A HARD GRIND IN GAME SATURDAY AGAINST BELLEFONTAINE

BY NEIL SHAW

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Neil Shaw, star quarterback on South Hi's football eleven, is suffering from a broken leg but despite this fact is attending school. He has consented to write a number of articles for The News concerning athletics at his school.)

AFTER trouncing Troy on their home grounds last Saturday 33 to 0, the South Hi football eleven has been put thru strenuous scrimmage work this week in order to offer their best resistance and aggressive spirit against the Bellefontaine squad which meets the blue and gold on South's field Saturday afternoon.

South Hi was the first team this season to wreck the smooth running Sidney machine. Bellefontaine held Sidney to a 14 to 7 score, and this is evidence enough that our next visitors may be counted on as a strong aggregation.

The Southerners will be outweighed several pounds to the man, but expect to make up for all their loss in weight by fighting every second of play.

Coach Ward Young, himself crippled, is confident of his men, as he has worked them harder this week than ever before and has obtained better results.

South's aerial attack has almost reached the stage of perfection and will be something to boast about Thanksgiving Day when they meet Central Hi in their annual battle. The Southerners' backs are of the ripping kind and the line men easily make gaps for the backfielders to sweep thru.

Tho having two successive victories to their credit, the South outfit fully realizes that they have strong contenders to overcome and in no way do they show overconfidence. They are alert and ready for anything that may present itself Saturday afternoon.

It is more than probable that the players will be alternated the day of the contest, because certain second stringers are showing a world of football ability. From the scrap they put up they evidently want the varsity eleven to be hardened and tried so that opposing squads will have little to gain when launching a terrific attack.

Central Hi, tho showing their best, are outpointed by the fighting blue and gold. South has won four games out of six, while Central lost three out of five.

Here's the standings to date:

South, 148; Opponents, 74.

Central, 39; Opponents, 48.

The probable line-up Saturday will be: Barrington, L. E.; Williams, L. T.; Berger, L. G.; Pash, C.; Dally or Smith, R. G.; Fanaff or Curran, R. T.; Early, R. E.; Winegardner, C. B.; Brown or Emons, L. H.; Fisher, R. H., and DuPere, F. B.

PRINCETON — Virginia's big football delegation arrived here today and went thru a stiff workout in preparation for tomorrow's game with the Tigers. The southerners commented on their prospects with a "we have a good chance."

NEW YORK — Penn State and Georgia Tech were both on the scene today for the feature of tomorrow's card. Both squads were to work out this afternoon on the Polo Grounds.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — More determined than over-confident, the Center football squad was ready here today for tomorrow's game with Harvard.

MILWAUKEE — The Minnesota football squad started in on their last practice here today in preparation for the battle with Wisconsin at Madison tomorrow.

FOUR CLEVELAND INDIANS SIGNED BY WAPAK

WAMBSGANSS, UHLE, GRANEY, TURNER TO PLAY HERE

Wapak has signed four regular players of Tris Speaker's Cleveland Indians, 1920 world champions, for the game against Lima Sunday at the Murphy-st grounds to decide the championship of Allen and Auglaize cos.

Every baseball fan knows Bill Wambsganss, who will go down in baseball history as the only player who ever made an unassisted triple play in a world series game.

Wamby will play second base. George Uhle, manager of the Wapak Reds, that he will be in the box. Terry Turner will be at third base and Jack Granev will hold out in left field.

AND HERE'S SOME MORE

In addition to these just add Pat Duncan, right fielder for the Cincinnati Reds; "Babe" Henline, catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics; Schell and Schum, of the Dayton Triangles; and "Lefty" Houtz, captain of the Red Sox.

Bernie Halloran, manager of the Independents, is not worried to any extent over the sensational news from our neighbors. He has his lines out for the leading pitcher this season in the National League—Sam Jones—and he will probably be on the firing line to offset the great offensive of the Wapak line-up.

SMITH TO RETURN

Elmer Smith, of the Indians, has advised Halloran that he will be here Sunday to play at first base, and Billy Southworth says he wouldn't miss the battle for a farm. Langhorst was in Lima Thursday night and went into conference with Bernie Halloran. Right off the bat he wanted to reserve the entire grandstand for the Wapakoneta fans, but he finally compromised with one-third, or 200 seats, which will be sold in Wapakoneta.

To do this Halloran decided to put grandstand seats on sale Saturday morning at the White cafe, Nantawan Cigar store, Recreation building, South Side Capitol Bowling alleys and the South Side Cigar store.

ONE TO A PERSON

Only one ticket will be sold to a person. The first come first served. Langhorst said he expected that at least 2,000 fans would come from Wapak and Celina.

Kenton, Ottawa, Delphos, Ottumwa, Spencerville, and practically every town near Lima have asked for seat reservations.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK—Sturdiest plants of the south's new football crop will try life for a day tomorrow in eastern soil.

The south against the east furnishes the big feature of a schedule that has reached the stage of real class. One of the best football games of the year should result from:

Harvard and Center, Georgia Tech and Penn State and Princeton and Virginia. The sensational "Prin" Colonels of Danville, catch the Harvard eleven at a moment when the Crimson eleven is not just exactly fit for a hard game. Casualties from the hard Penn State game last Saturday have left a disabled squad on the hands of Coach Bob Fisher.

Harvard, however, is favored to win by the eastern critics. Penn State and Georgia Tech will give New York her first glimpse of a real big inter-sectional game. The Atlanta school has one of the best teams in the south, and Penn State hasn't seen a superior in the east. With Louie, thirty and Sively back in the game, Virginia has not a promising outlook with Princeton. The Tigers, however, are taking the game lightly and overconfidence has been one of the worst sins of Princeton all season.

Willard, Rich, Wants To Regain Lost Honors

WILLARD IS A MILLIONAIRE BUSINESS MAN BUT STILL—

HE WANTS TO FIGHT IN THE BOXING RING

BY ROY GROVE

JESS WILLARD is rich—worth millions.

Nothing that he craves and that money will buy is beyond him.

A big man, mammoth in physique, a business general, a millionaire with diamonds and oil wells, yet—He's not satisfied!

He wants to be king of prize fighters. He wants to get into the ring and fight. He wants to be a champion of the world. And he'll abandon his oil wells, and diamonds and wealthy friends for a chance to do it.

Willard misses the old days when he was a champion. He misses the crowds who used to follow him, the fans who pointed him out as he lowered among his admirers. He misses the voices that used to hear saying: "There goes the champion!"

That is Big Jess' trouble. He would fight Dempsey for nothing. He wants the thing he can't buy—the honors of the prize ring.

The more money Willard makes, the more dissatisfied he becomes. For his signing with Promoter Rickard for a title fight follows closely a new oil strike that Jess has just made near Eureka, Kas.

Three months ago the former champion leased 3000 acres in Greenwood-co, Kas., and soon after brought in an oil well, his first at that place. Now he has resold one-fourth of his leases there for more than $500,000. Oil men say that before he is thru, his tract will net him $2,000,000.

Willard has been a keen business man ever since he began making money in the prize ring. Before he entered the oil game he made money on a ranch near Lawrence, Kas. Many other men there had a hard time getting returns.

Willard is popular around Eureka. As "common as an old shoe" when they talk oil, but "like a clam" when they bring up the subject of pugilism.

Residents of Eureka think someone's spoiling—when they read stories that Jess is going to fight Dempsey again.

"Don't see how he can afford to take time away from his oil business," said Sylvester Forrester, millionaire oil man of Wichita. "He's making too much money without going back to the fight game."

Still, it's not the jungle in his pocket; it's the buzzing in his brain.

English Boxer In America To Grab Off Title

NEW YORK—Ernie Rice, of England holder of the Lord Londale belt, emblematic of the English lightweight boxing championship will meet Sailor Friedman, Chicago, in a 15 round contest in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Friedman has been angling for a championship bout with Benny Leonard and tonight's contest may clear up the lightweight situation insofar as the Chicago lad is concerned. Should Rice be victorious Leonard may sign a contract to meet him for the title in London during December.

Several hundred Wittenberg students are expected to accompany their team from Springfield.

Setting Pretty

CINCINNATI—University of Cincinnati completed its hard work for the Wittenberg game, first of the conference season here Saturday, and training operations until the white blows will be confined to punting and signal drills. Coach Chambers reported all his men on edge and ready for a fast start.

TO CELEBRATE

NEW YORK—Leach Cross, veteran lightweight, will observe the fifteenth anniversary of his professional ring career on November 7 by engaging Frankie Maxwell in a decision bout. Cross has won two decision bouts since he essayed a comeback several months ago.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Clarence Zaenglein, assistant auditor for the Western Ohio Railway company, ate his breakfast with one eye on the clock in front of him.

When he finished, he grabbed his hat, jammed it on his head and picked up the clock and started for the car, on a run, leaving his lunch box on the table.

Before getting on the car he discovered his error—then waited for the next car.

The night of the dance arrived. So did the suit. That is, all but the trousers. But he couldn't well attend the dance with only the coat and waistcoat.

told an acquaintance the value of a rare old violin he owns. "Humph," said the friend, "I think you were stung. I know a man who bought a bass fiddle several times bigger than your violin and it didn't cost him half as much."

One of the colored elevator girls at the Citizens Bank building was asked if she could dance, after she had completed whistling a snappy tune as the car went upward.
